Very few men are satisfied with the way they look at present. They know themselves that they wouldn't mind having a REALLY MASCULINE BODY — one that will "turn on" the girls and make the guys envious.

WITH UNIVERSAL METHODS, YOU CAN BREAK OUT OF YOUR "OLD" SELF, AND TRANSFORM YOUR BODY INTO AN ATTENTION-GETTER!!! WE GUARANTEE TO IMPROVE YOUR BODY FAR BEYOND WHAT YOU'VE EVER BELIEVED POSSIBLE! We have perfected bodybuilding training techniques to the extreme, so that we can offer you the fastest gains possible. If you're thin and underweight, you'll be astonished at how quickly muscles appear. If you're overweight, we can help you to trim down the fat and replace it with rock-hard muscle. We'll tone up your abdominal area, and show you how to obtain a well-defined and impressive waist.

Add 2 or 3 inches to your arms, 4 or 5 inches to your chest — your rewards will be in direct proportion to your effort and accomplishments — nobody sets a limit to your success.

In the time it takes to complete this 12 lesson course, we can guarantee you a muscular foundation fantastic enough to be developed to your fullest potential!!! You can go far beyond mere "improvement" with the Advanced Training Techniques included in this course. We can give you the firm, rippling, muscular body of a physique star!!! Send in for our FREE COLORFUL BROCHURES TODAY (fantastic information about our course — loaded with unbelievable photographs). You won't regret it!!!

Scientific Test PROVES Isokinetics

- 166% Better Than Weights
 - 390% Better Than Isometrics
- ### For Putting Muscle on YOU!

Isokinetics is now proved superior to weight training for building your strength, body and explosive power . . . faster, more effectively than any other method.

A leading medical journal published the scientific experiments of recognized researchers. Average peak strength improvement after only 8 weeks for each type of exercise was:

Isokinetics 47.2%
Weight Training . . . 28.6%
Isometrics 12.1%

During each Isokinetic exercise, you continually change the "weight" to the amount that your muscles need for fastest maximum development . . . without stopping. Until recently the only Isokinetic exercisers available were complicated machines costing from $120 to over $4000. But NOW, A NEW invention, amazing in its beautiful simplicity, puts Isokinetic muscle building within your reach for only a few dollars.

POWEREX — ISOKINETICS

The invention is POWEREX — an Isokinetic exerciser designed to give you the ultimate benefits of muscle strength, and explosive power faster than ever. - (2) POWEREX has the exclusive CONTROL LEVERS. You instantly and smoothly change the amount of "weight" working for you, to the maximum your muscles can handle . . . from zero to hundreds of pounds, quickly building your body into a classic, powerful machine!

NEWS FROM THE WRESTLING CAPITALS

Above: Ray Stevens and Nick Bockwinkle may suspect at this point that the team of Crusher and Bruiser are on their way to take the A.W.A. tag team championship. Right: Waldo Von Erich realizes it was not a good idea for him to break Bruno Sammartino's trophy.

MASSACHUSETTS MAYHEM By Ned Byrne

A DISGUSTING AND cruel incident preceeded Bruno Sammartino's title defense against German terror Waldo Von Erich. As Bruno was being awarded a trophy for his services to the sport of wrestling, Von Erich ran into the ring, kicked Bruno, wrestled the trophy from him and then busted it on a ringpost. Then Waldo kicked Bruno out of the ring. The bell rang and the match was now officially on.

Each time Bruno tried to climb back into the ring, Von Erich booted him out. Finally Bruno had enough. He grabbed a quick opportunity to get into the ring and that was it for Von Erich. Bruno battered the German badly. Waldo ran from the ring and picked up a chair. But it was wrenched from him by Bruno, who used it on the desperate Waldo quite impressively. The champion finished Waldo off and got revenge for his broken trophy.

In a riotous six man tag team match, Andre the Giant, Dom DeNucci and Pat Barrett took the measure of Blackjack Mulligan, Blackjack Lanza and manager Captain Lou Albano.

Dom, Pat and Andre took the first fall in this three out of five fall bout. The Blackjacks evened things quickly. The next fall saw both teams disqualified when all six men were battling each other.

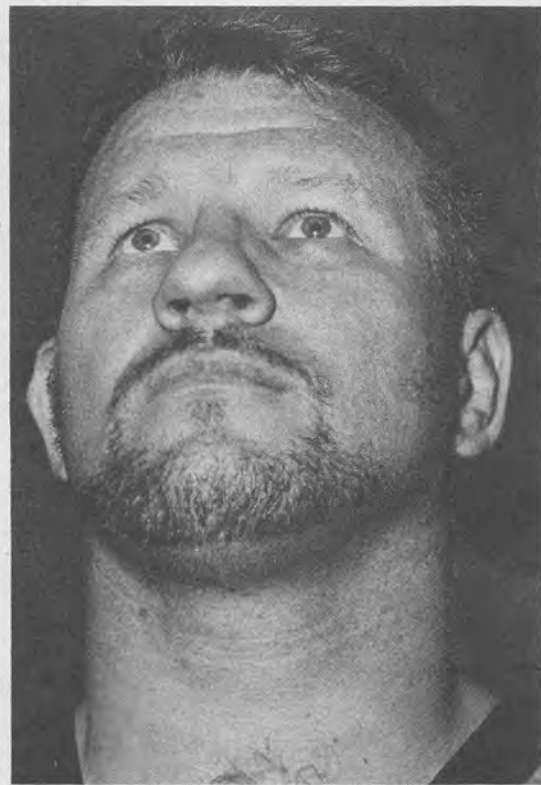

The final fall was all Albano's team could take. As the Blackjacks tried to claw Andre's face, the giant reversed the move and clawed both of them! After releasing them, Albano and his Blackjacks retreated and went back to the dressing room. Dom, Pat and Andre were declared the winners.

ILLINOIS REPORT By Christopher Monroe

Ray Stevens and Nick Bockwinkle thought they would have an easy time defending their A.W.A. tag team title against Bruiser and Crusher in Chicago's Amphitheatre.

"Those two haven't teamed in ages,"

Stevens said. "They have no chance."

"My champions will emerge victorious in two straight falls," noted Bobby Heenan, their trouble-making manager.

Even Heenan's interference didn't help Ray and Nick. The team of Bruiser and Crusher used every trick in the book—and some out of the book—to win the first fall.

Stevens and Bockwinkle evened things in the second fall by thrashing Crusher. Now it was anyone's ballgame. (Continued on page 58)

Fitness is my business

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER®
BECAUSE IT'S FAST, IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Aside from keeping many of the stars you see in the movies and on television in top shape, Mike Fretault, at 40, is still one of the most sought-after stunt men in the business.

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in shape.

Twenty years as a fitness coach has taught me one important fact: most men will not stick with a training program long enough for it to do them any good, unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker gets a top score on all three counts:

—it's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about five minutes

—it's easy: any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can perform the full program without getting tired

—you see your results right from the very first day on the built-in Power-meter gauge. After two to three weeks of regular training, most men can expect to measure an extra inch or two of muscle on their shoulders, chest and biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the middle.

And that's just the start: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming-down any part of your body you want to. What's more since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every workout your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. For my money, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market. I use it and recommend it to any man who wants to get back in top shape fast.

For free details about Bullworker Fitness Training, recommended by fitness experts, champion athletes and nearly two million enthusiastic users the world around, mail coupon for FREE BOOKLET today. No obligation, no salesman will visit.

SINCERELY YOURS

HOTSEAT'S HELL

After reading "Reporter's Interview Ends In Terror" (INSIDE WRESTLING/September '75) I must say I agree with your editorial. Reporter Bill Apter should not have to be terrorized during an interview. If a wrestler, or in this case a manager, agrees to be put on the "Hotseat," he should be expected to answer any questions given to him!

TORMENTING TILLET

After reading "The Night Oliver Humperdink Nearly Lost an Eye," (THE WRESTLER/September '75), I am sure you will get many letters claiming Humperdink deserved exactly what he got. However, while Louie Tillet's momentary lapse into his primitive instincts is understandable (Tillet did the damage for those who didn't read the story), he was, after all, in extreme pain. Still, no one deserves to have an eye gouged out. Sight is so precious that no person has the right to take it away from another.

I was grateful to read Sir Oliver will recover his sight, and I hope something good will come of the incident. In the future, Sir Oliver should be more cautious about running into the ring during a match. Please, Sir Oliver keep yourself safe and healthy for the sake of everyone who admires your genius.

VALIANT VALIANTS

I was amazed and quite shocked to hear The Valiant Brothers lost their W.W.W.F. tag team title a while ago. What a damn shame! I know their schedule was quite heavy so they must have gotten awfully tired. That's probably why they lost the belts. Sure, sometimes they broke rules, but even your Jack Brisco and Verne Gagne fans will admit those wrestlers also break rules. They'll eventually win a top tag team title again. I'm behind you guys all the way!

RACE RALLIES

Too many people have said Harley Race was a "fluke" champion. Not me. Race won the title from Dory Funk Jr. Then he went on a few months later to topple Funk for the Missouri state title. Why do they still call him a fluke champ! Harley Race will dethrone Jack Brisco and show the world how great he is—again!

BUSTIN' BRISCO

I'm convinced you guys are out to bust Jack Brisco's chops. I never see articles picking on other champions like you write about Brisco. Jack is a good champion and deserves to be treated with dignity. Come on guys, be fair to this credit to the sport!

DREAM ON!

I think Dusty Rhodes is the most exciting wrestler I've ever seen. He deserves a shot at the world title. When the heck is he going to get it?

Every kid in my school has a favorite wrestler. Mine is Dusty and he'll be my favorite until the day he quits. Keep on winnin' "Big Dust!"

Dozens of wrestlers have tried to unmask Mr. Wrestling and failed. But where they've failed—we've succeeded!

"You know," Mr. Wrestling begins during an amiable chat, "a mask can be fun for awhile, but when talking to friends, it can be a handicap. I don't care if my friends know who I am." And with that, he takes off his mask to reveal—Tim Woods (right)! Tim permitted us to take this candid photo. Wrestlers (below) won't find it so easy to take off the mask of Mr. Wrestling!

NEVER CHALLENGE BRUISER TO A STREETFIGHT

Someone should have warned Ox Baker not to accept Bruiser's challenge to a streetfight. You can bet Baker will know better next time! PHOTOS BY DAVID MCLANE

THERE IS SOMETHING frighteningly extraordinary about a streetfight. It is the ultimate way for two men to express their hatred. All the rules of civilization are ignored; men are reduced to the level of clawing animals.

Two men who have never needed much of an excuse to brawl like wild animals are Bruiser and Ox Baker. When Bruiser challenged Baker to a streetfight, the fans filled the arena to see what would have to be the wildest battle they'd ever witnessed. No one was disappointed.

Bruiser chose the idea of a streetfight for a special reason.

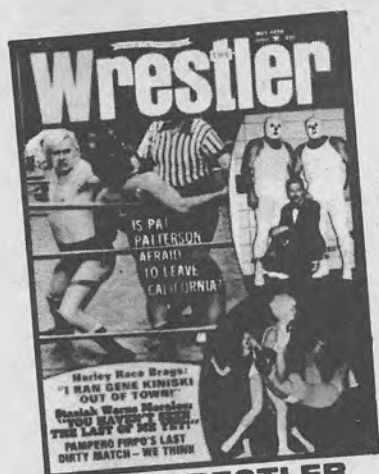

"Baker," he noted, "has been terrorizing this area. The only way to stop him is in a streetfight. That's the most humiliating kind of a battle to lose. After all, who can frighten someone when he's standing around in his underpants? The real way to stop guys like Baker is to make them laughingstocks!"

The night of the match saw both men enter the arena in streetclothes. They would do furious combat to tear these clothes off their opponent. The first one stripped to his underwear would be the loser—and an hilarious sight!

Baker had heard about Bruiser's reasons for challenging him to a streetfight. The steely look in Ox's eyes showed he was determined not to give his foe any satisfaction. Instead, it would be Bruiser stripped and humiliated before the fans, if Baker had his way. And looking at the fearsome grappler, fans knew it would take an incredible effort by Bruiser to stop him. WHY DUSTY RHODES SAYS

"THIS IS THE YEAR OF THE AMERICAN DREAM"

Can the year of the Bicentennial also be the year of Dusty Rhodes, "The American Dream?" Dusty sees the nationwide celebration as an omen to success

WHAT BETTER YEAR than this Bicentennial for Dusty Rhodes, "the American Dream," to realize his own hopes and aspirations!

"This is my year, baby!" he exclaims happily. "This is the year it all comes together. When I think of how easily it'll all happen, how wonderfully it will take place, I can't keep from laughing. This year will be the year of joy and the year of victory!"

Dusty sees his vision becoming reality in two areas. The most important accomplishment for the popular mat star is to hear himself introduced as "N.W.A. world champion."

"This has got to be my year!"

Dusty believes fervently. "I know I'm the best wrestler around. The fans know I'm the best wrestler around. And Jack Brisco is terrified because his nights are haunted with the knowledge I'm the best wrestler around."

"I am a champion! I can bring glory to the N.W.A. All the fans want to see me striding around the arena with the belt around my waist. Everyone regards me as a champion now. All that I lack is one easy victory over Brisco."

"I've got to win the title for all my fans, people all over the country who know I'm the latest, greatest, glorious, and fabulous. I've got the best fans in all the world. I'm going to win the title for them. White, black, yellow, and red—they're all united behind the "American Dream," yours truly, myself!"

Dusty claims to have figured out the perfect strategy to take Brisco's belt. His plan is, of course, a well-guarded secret. But Dusty knows what's going to happen when he does become champion.

"There'll be a celebration," he hopes, "which will cover the country. People from all over will be elated with my victory, which will be their victory. Two hundred years after the American revolution, the American Dream will be realized. And the whole world will know it."

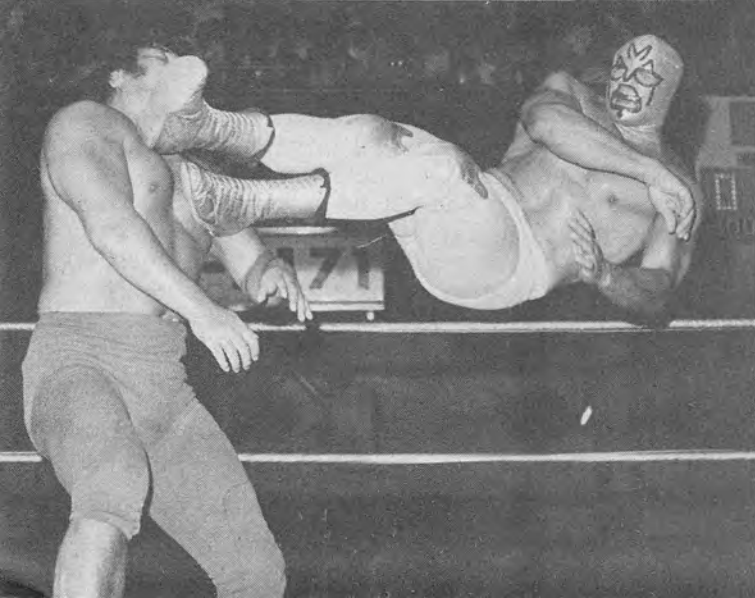

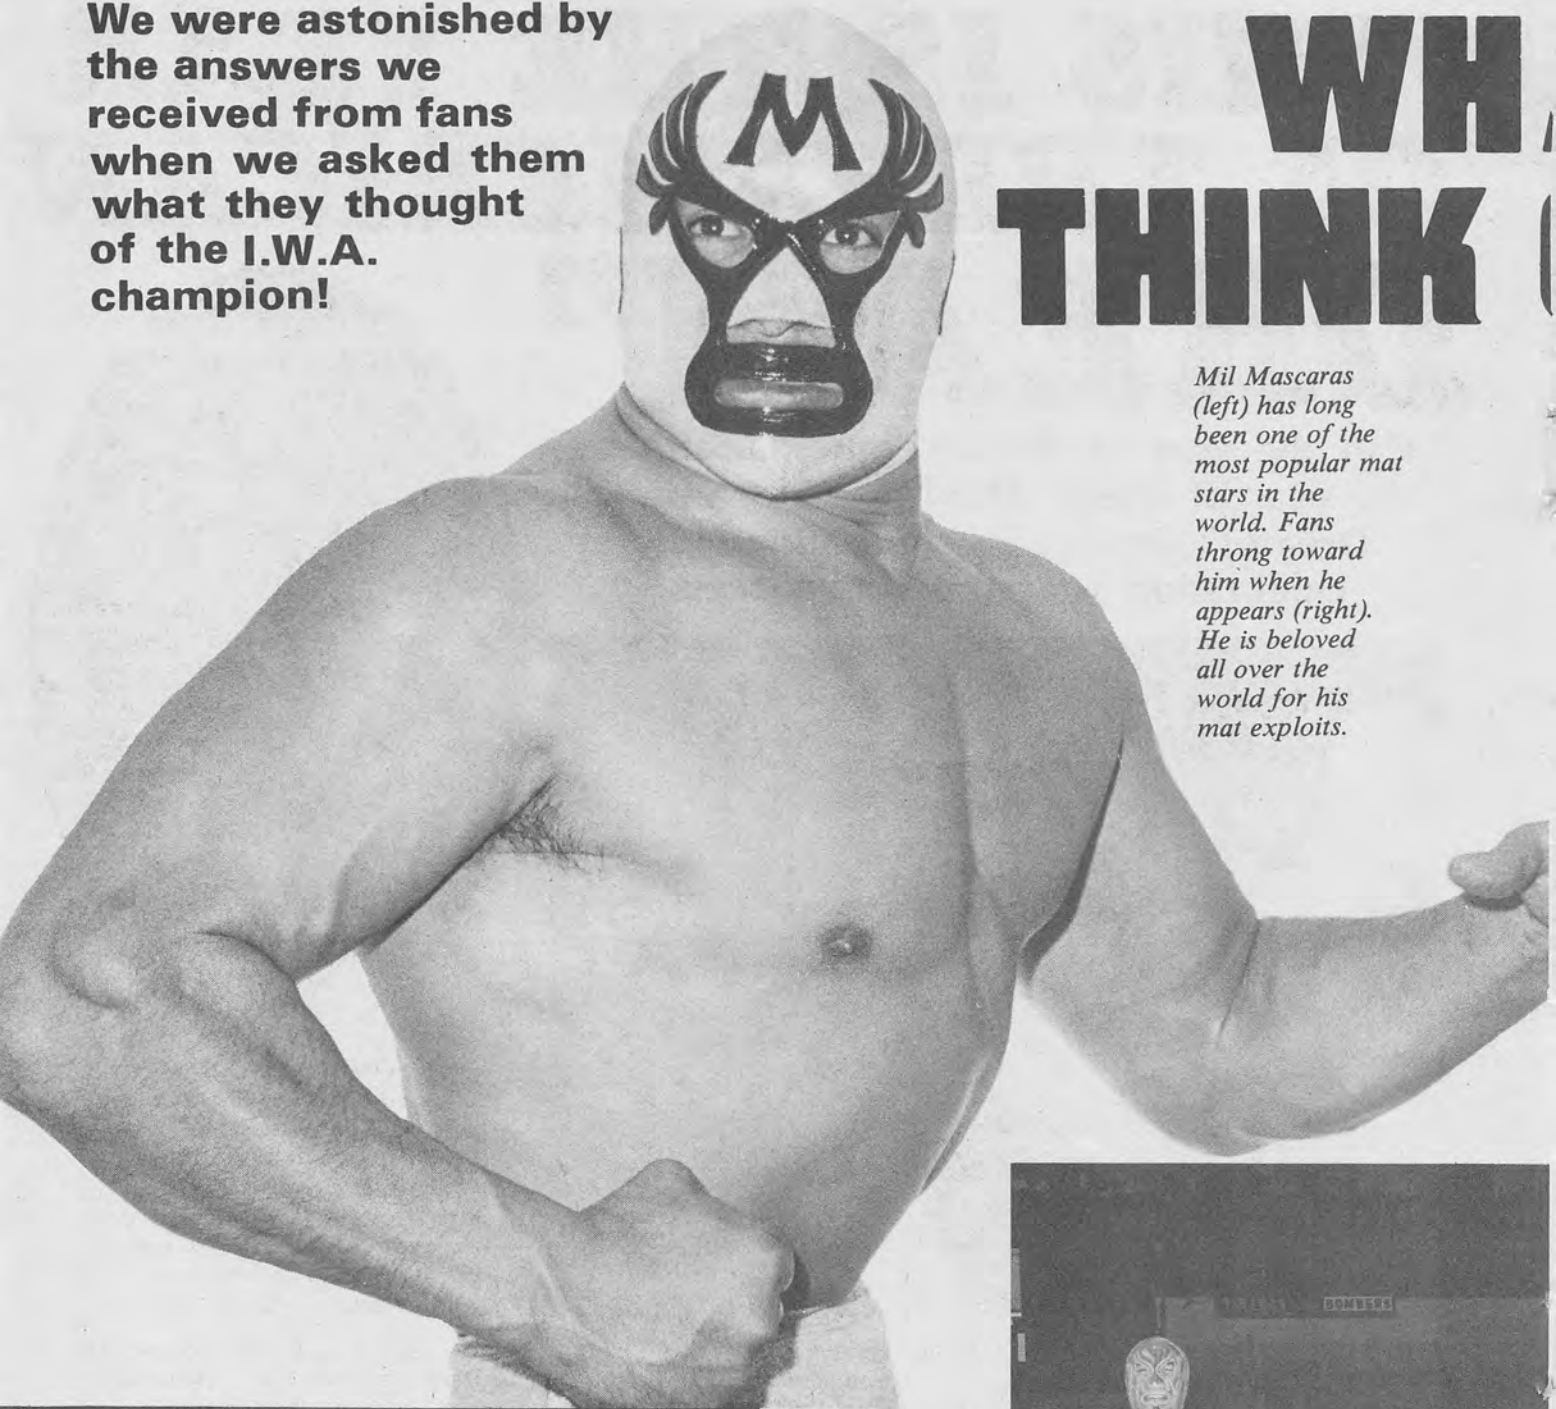

"I've become a symbol. My success in '76 will prove that the

We were astonished by the answers we received from fans when we asked them what they thought of the I.W.A. champion!

WH THINK

Mil Mascaras (left) has long been one of the most popular mat stars in the world. Fans throng toward him when he appears (right). He is beloved all over the world for his mat exploits.

Against foes as different as Saito (left) and Don Carson (right) Mil is invincible. He is a champion against even the most cruel and savage of wrestlers. It is no wonder he evokes such a strong reaction from fans all over the world!

AT FANS REALLY OF MIL MASCARAS

WRESTLING FANS ARE known for their independent opinions. No wrestler's accomplishments or fame put him above criticism. No matter how popular a wrestler may become, there will be fans with valid reasons for saying he's far from worthy.

Even Mil Mascaras, one of the most respected athletes in the world, has to contend with the criticism of the fans. Because no man can be perfect, or all things to all people, he can't hope to please everyone. That is why the fans' opinions of Mascaras are so important to know; to discover for what reasons this most admired man is criticized is to learn what fans want in the perfect wrestler.

We took our tape recorder to a stadium where Mascaras was wrestling and began to ask fans their opinion of the Mexican mat immortal. What follows is the best of over 250 opinions! They have been chosen for how well they represent the opinions of the majority.

Perhaps the most popular opinion is to be expected. Fans believed themselves lucky to have the privilege to see such an extraordinary athlete.

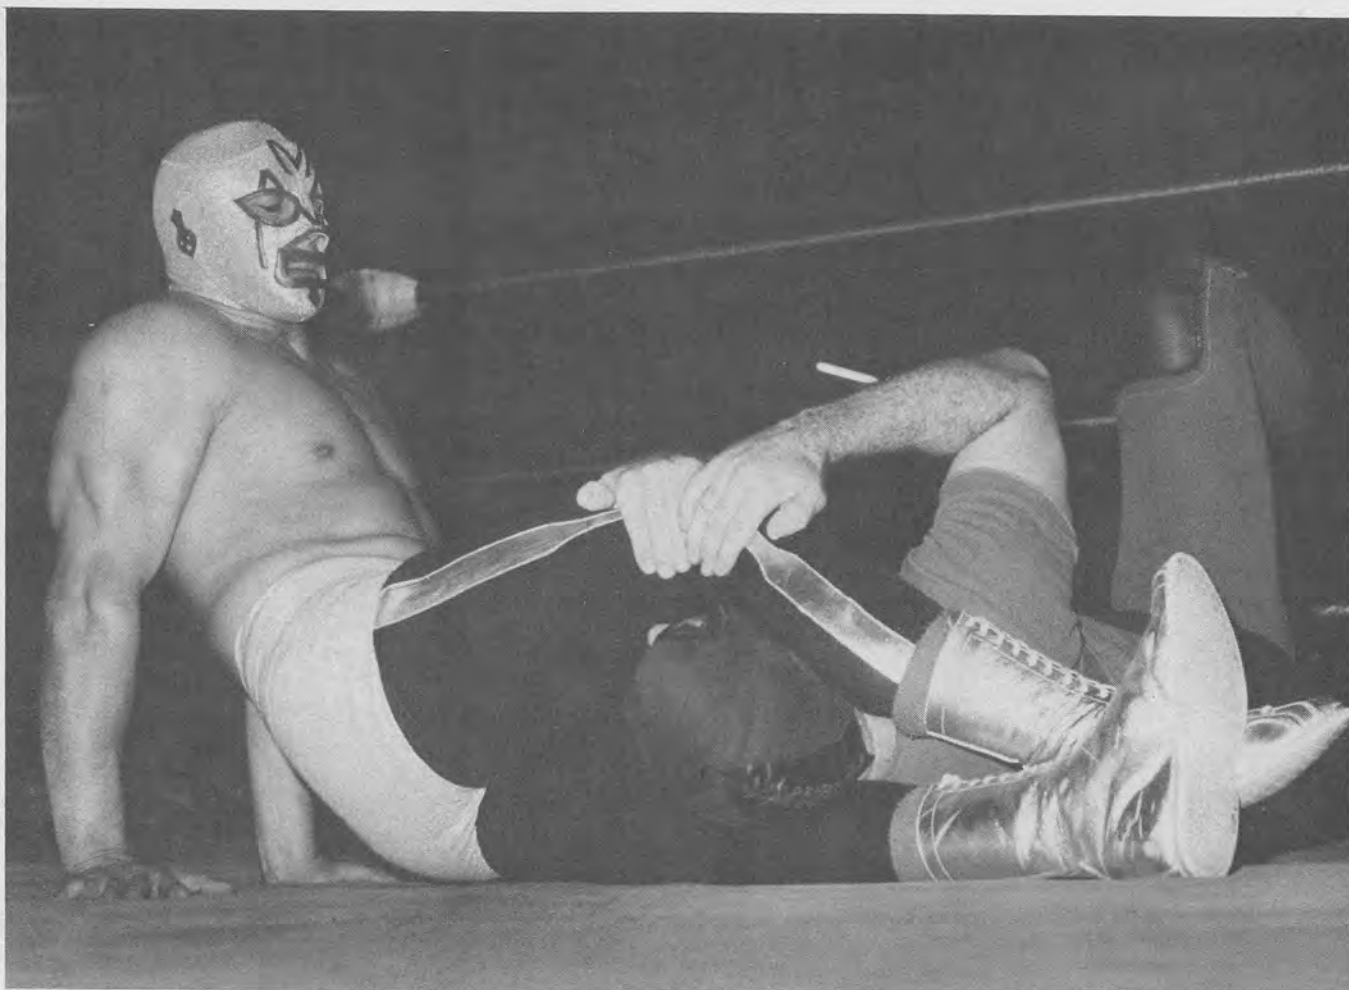

"There are certain athletes in every sport," Terry Moss says, "who one must see in his lifetime. They possess something special, that grace under pressure, which separates them from the rest of the human race. They're works of art in themselves. Babe Ruth was one of them. In wrestling, it's Mil Mascaras.

"I think his body was made for wrestling. It seems to flow with his every movement. Some bodies are like that. They come along once in a generation, if that."

No one denied Mascaras' almost superhuman athletic ability. However, there were fans who complained about how he employs those powers. Though they were in the decided minority, it was still a sizeable opinion. Brian Nicholis summed up these sentiments best.

"It's alright to be athletic," Brian contends, "but a real winner has to have the killer instinct. I like wrestlers, not acrobats. How many times has Mascaras gotten his opponent into trouble, only to have the guy escape because Mil won't resort to some rougher tactics. He's a champion and should be a winner.

"Winning is most important. The rest is nonsense. Who really cares about scientific or fair wrestling? Mascaras is too worried about his image as a fair wrestler to be a great wrestler!"

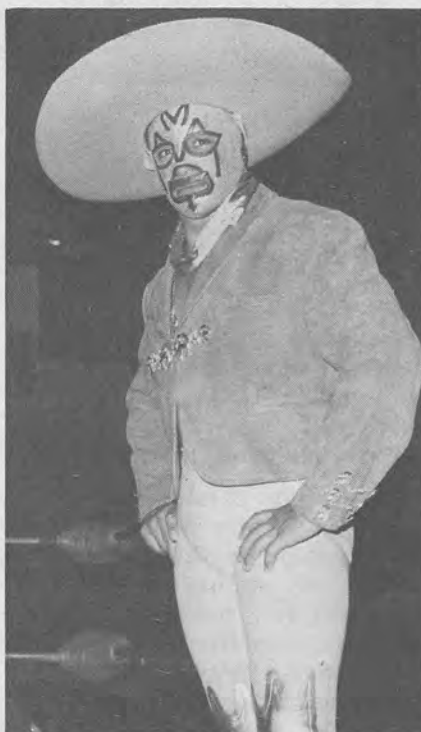

"I've seen Mascaras lose his temper and go after a guy. But he uses tactics a guy like Ernie Ladd uses just to get started. Now Ladd is a guy who's a real wrestler! He wants to win and he'll do anything to make sure he does. That's what wrestling is about, as far as I'm concerned."

Many fans disagreed with Brian on the spot, shouting their opinions into our microphone. They were outraged anyone could not like Mascaras. Yet, throughout the crowd there were the pockets of discontent about Mil's tactics.

There was a much stronger controversy about Mil's personal style. Though people would respect Mil's ability, they were critical of his practice of wearing a mask.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Ed Spooner, "a guy wears a mask if he wants to hide something. Rooting for a masked wrestler makes me uncomfortable. It's as if he's trying to keep between the fans and himself. I don't think any wrestler should wear a mask.

Mil's superiority over other masked wrestlers is constantly being reinforced by victories over such tough opponents as The Outlaw (above). Mil's fine and glorious clothing would even put a matador to shame!

"I want to see a guy's face. I can't explain why it's so important, but it is. That's why Mascaras is a wrestler I'd go to see whenever possible, but something prevents me from rooting for him wholeheartedly."

Other fans, however, were delighted by the mask and the elaborate costumes Mil wears into the ring.

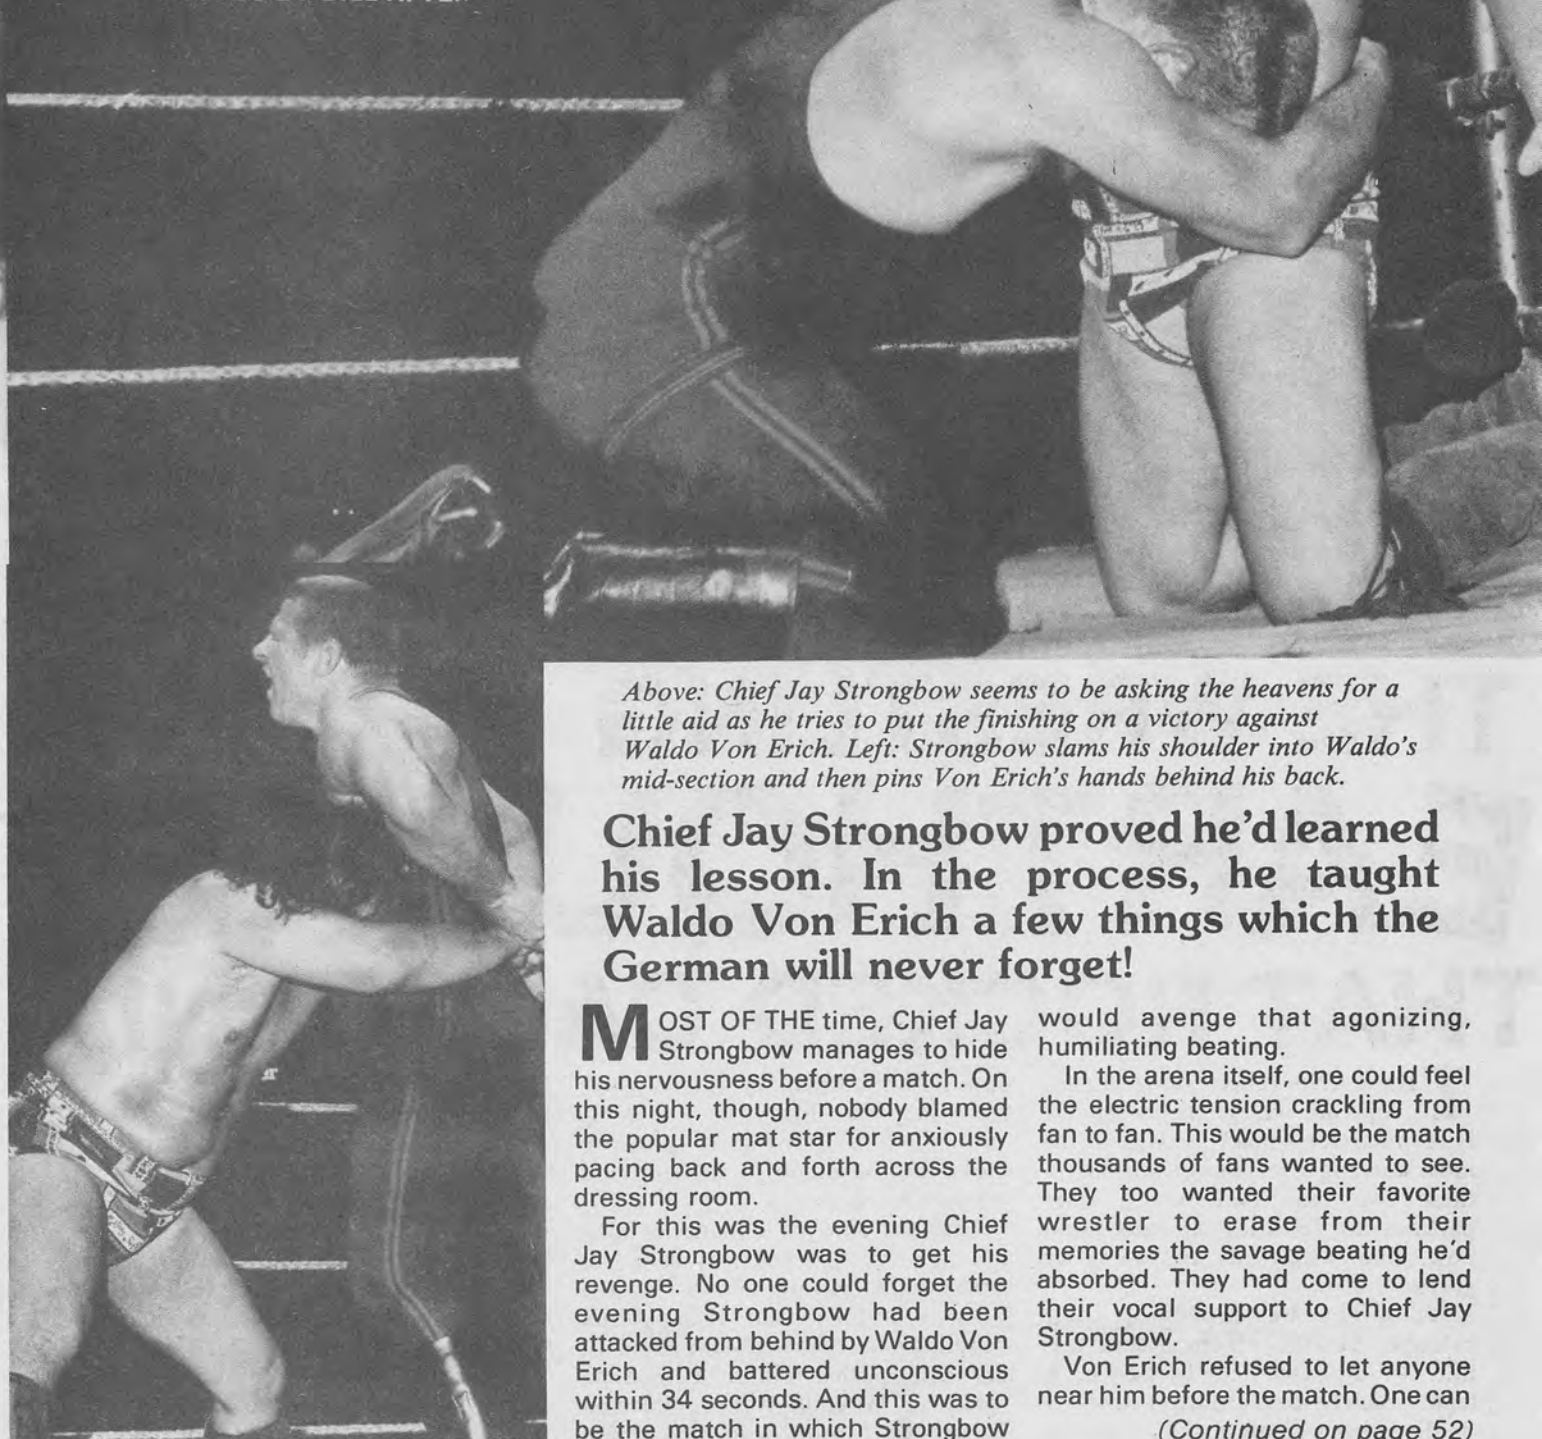

"The man's got style," is how Alicia Verdugo summed it up. "He has the natural grace to wear anything well. A man like that has to be gloriously outfitted. He was born to wear brightly colored clothes."

"I think his mask adds something to his glamor. It makes him that much more exciting. An air of mystery is always enjoyable. And Mil is a man of mystery. I could probably be his best friend for years and still not know what makes him tick. I think the mask symbolizes that about him. It's perfect."

Mil's influence over other

WAS THIS CHIEF JAY STRONGBOW'S GREATEST CONQUEST?

Chief Jay Strongbow proved he'd learned his lesson. In the process, he taught Waldo Von Erich a few things which the German will never forget!

MOST OF THE time, Chief Jay Strongbow manages to hide his nervousness before a match. On this night, though, nobody blamed the popular mat star for anxiously pacing back and forth across the dressing room.

For this was the evening Chief Jay Strongbow was to get his revenge. No one could forget the evening Strongbow had been attacked from behind by Waldo Von Erich and battered unconscious within 34 seconds. And this was to be the match in which Strongbow would avenge that agonizing, humiliating beating.

In the arena itself, one could feel the electric tension crackling from fan to fan. This would be the match thousands of fans wanted to see. They too wanted their favorite wrestler to erase from their memories the savage beating he'd absorbed. They had come to lend their vocal support to Chief Jay Strongbow.

Von Erich refused to let anyone near him before the match. One can

THE WRESTLING EARTHQUAKE THAT ROCKED CALIFORNIA

THE FANS WERE on their feet. Choi Sun was going to remove Hiroshima Joe's mask. In one of the most startling reversals ever witnessed, these two men had turned from partners to brawling animals. And now, Sun was ready to reveal his partner's identity.

As might be expected, their manager, Sir Oliver Humperdink, was horrified by what had happened. A team which he dreamed would one day be the world's greatest was crumbling right before his eyes. And even worse than that, Hiroshima Joe was being unmasked. Humperdink had no choice but to climb in the ring and separate his wrestlers.

Choi Sun saw his manager coming and knew the reason he was there. But three quick karate blows by the Oriental grappler sent Humperdink waddling back to the dressing room. In less than another minute, Hiroshima Joe's mask lay empty and crumpled on the canvas. Staring wild-eyed at the crowd was the man whose identity had been revealed—Greg Valentine!

The Los Angeles crowd whooped happily at the grappler's deep embarrassment. Choi Sun proudly strutted back to the dressing room, knowing the intense humiliation he had caused Valentine. Greg watched his former partner leave; if looks could kill, Choi Sun would be a dead man.

Frantically, Valentine grabbed the microphone and shouted to the crowd. "I am not Hiroshima Joe!" he Unmasked, Greg Valentine tries to get revenge against Choi Sun in a match which shocked California wrestling. It was only the first of many big surprises for the stunned area!

One of the most perplexing mysteries in wrestling gets more complex the more that it is revealed!

His mask askew, Hiroshima Joe momentarily repulses the raging Louis Tillet. In a few minutes Tillet would succeed in taking off the mask and reveal Greg Valentine to be the mysterious grappler for the second time!

screamed. He grew more desperate as the crowd greeted his claim with laughter. "I am NOT Hiroshima Joe! The real Hiroshima Joe is ill tonight. I took his place as an act of friendship. Choi Sun betrayed us both! The real identity of Hiroshima Joe is still a mystery!"

Valentine fled back to the dressing room as the crowd booed at his retreat. One could tell, however, that many of the fans were uncertain as to whether there could be some grain of truth in Valentine's statements.

What caused the explosive rift between Sun and Valentine during the match remains as much a mystery as the one cloaking Hiroshima Joe's true identity. Rumors began circulating the day after the match; each one conflicting and each promising to be the truth. None of the three involved would talk, which was the strangest thing of all.

Usually when a tag team breaks up, both men are determined to tell everyone their side of the rift. When both men and Humperdink refused to utter a word, this odd situation grew all the more mysterious.

Valentine, though, had more troubles than just tag team worries. He had to continually deny he was Hiroshima Joe, a feat which grew harder by the day. When he was asked to appear with Hiroshima Joe, he refused. Instead he distributed a picture of the two of them together. However, it was quickly discovered the photo was a fake; it was two separate photos superimposed in a laboratory.

When confronted with the theory the photo was a trick rather than proof, Valentine refused to comment. The silence surrounding this entire situation was astonishing. At no other time in Valentine's career had he kept quiet on any subject. And Sir Oliver Humperdink refusing to speak seemed to violate a law of nature.

However, the reason behind this uncanny silence soon became apparent. The promoters announced Louis Tillet and John Tolos would wrestle the tag team of Choi Sun and Hiroshima Joe, managed by Sir Oliver Humperdink. Professional wrestling circles were stunned by the announcement.

After Humperdink managed to work out a peaceful reconciliation between Choi Sun and Greg Valentine, the three posed for photographers (above). Those present sensed it was an uneasy truce. However, Valentine and Sun had to help Humperdink, who was turned into a bloody pulp (right) for the second straight tag team bout!

Louis Tillet has Hiroshima Joe in trouble until Choi Sun hurls salt in Tillet's face. The burning, blinding sensation forced Louis to release his hold and allowed Valentine to tag Sun. It was a miracle that Tillet managed to stumble to Tolos for help.

Obviously, Humperdink is a remarkable diplomat. He had immediately convinced Sun not to say a word about the mishap in the hopes of repairing the rift. We don't know what he said, but Humperdink convinced everyone involved to hold his peace while negotiations transpired to settle the argument.

So, Humperdink had forgiven Sun and Sun had forgiven Humperdink. No one believed Valentine would ever forgive the Oriental grappler for unmasking and humiliating him; that Choi Sun was wrestling with Hiroshima Joe was taken as proof by some that Joe and Greg were actually two different people. For the first time people accepted Valentine's excuse on the night of the unmasking as the truth.

On the night of the match, fans filled the arena to see if Hiroshima Joe would actually appear with Choi Sun and if they'd be accompanied by Humperdink. There was an audible gasp of surprise from the crowd when the trio appeared. Many had felt it would be an impossibility.

But the match began in an explosion of savage fury. Tolos and Choi Sun tore at each other in a burst of brutal wrestling action. The battle tumbled toward Tolos' corner and John gratefully tagged Tillet. Louis then pummelled the Oriental until Sun fled to tag Joe.

Louis and Joe battled across the canvas. Tillet's fingers eventually found the string around his foe's mask;

An enraged Choi Sun chokes his partner, Hiroshima Joe, during an argument. The brawl saw Sun unmask his own partner and start a bitter controversy.

in an instant, the mask was in Tillet's hands. The startled face of the unmasked grappler was once again that of Greg Valentine!

The fans didn't know how to react to this shocking disclosure. How did Humperdink ever get Sun and Valentine back together again? What would be Greg's excuse this time? And would anyone ever believe him again?

Neither Sun, Humperdink nor Valentine stayed to find out; they fled back to the dressing room. Any explanation would have to come some other day.

For more than a week, none of the trio would see or speak to anyone. Then, a statement was sent to this magazine signed by Valentine. It read:

"Hiroshima Joe had been unable to wrestle on the night I was again unmasked. Hiroshima Joe's identity is still unknown."

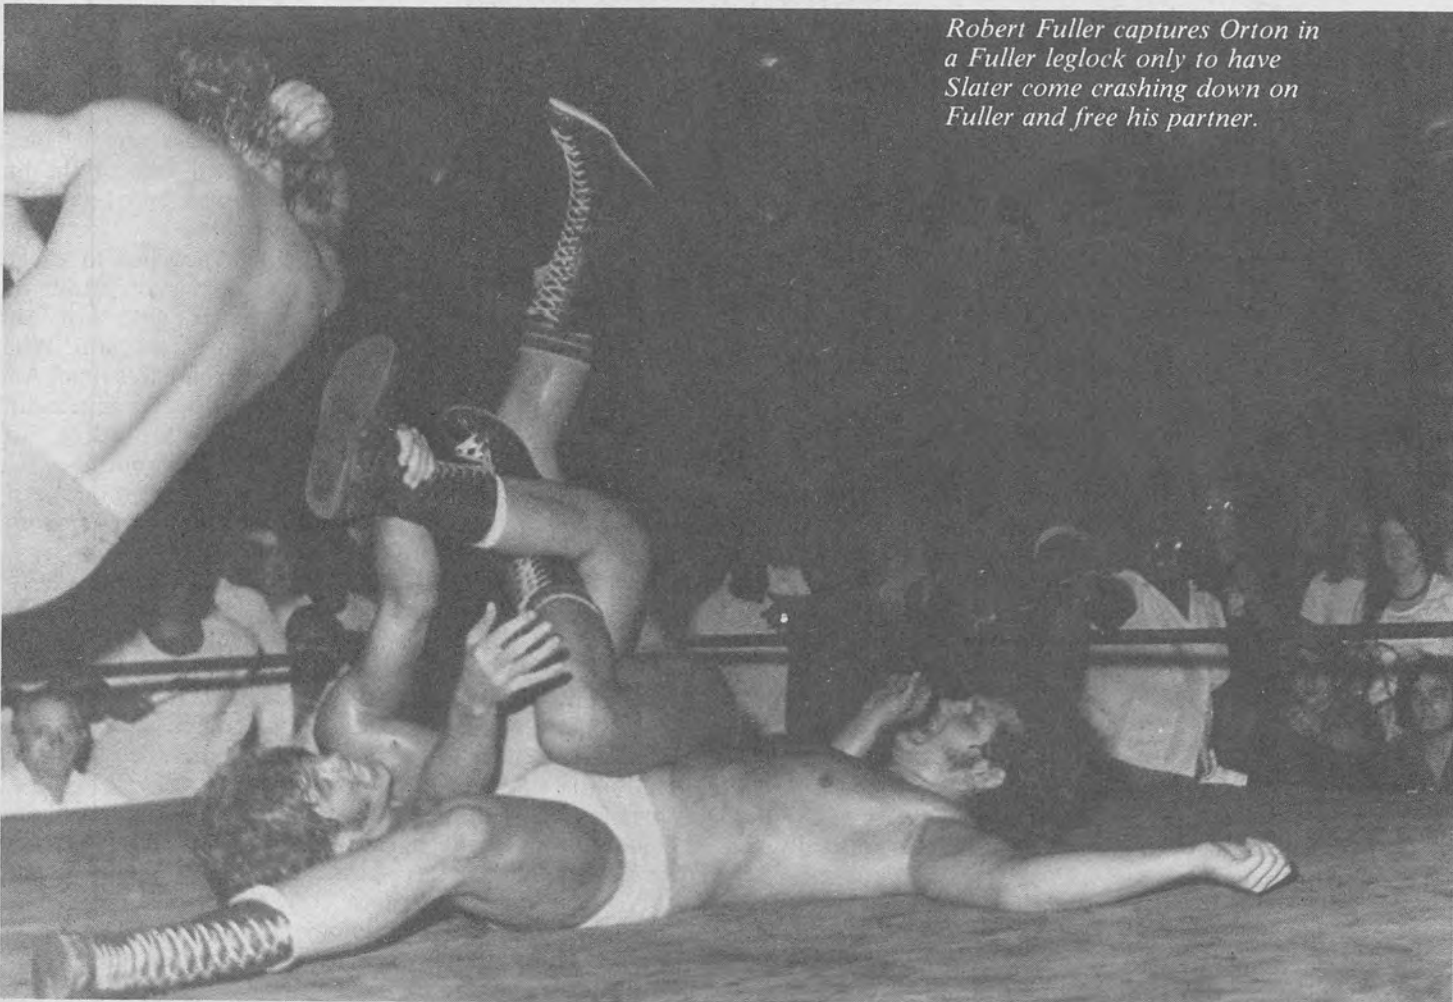

The statement came with a photo. It showed Valentine and Hiroshima Joe posing together. This one was real, not a trick of photographic technology.

The mystery grows deeper and more confusing every day. □

HOW TWO BITTER EN “WORLD’S GREATEST TAG TEAM”

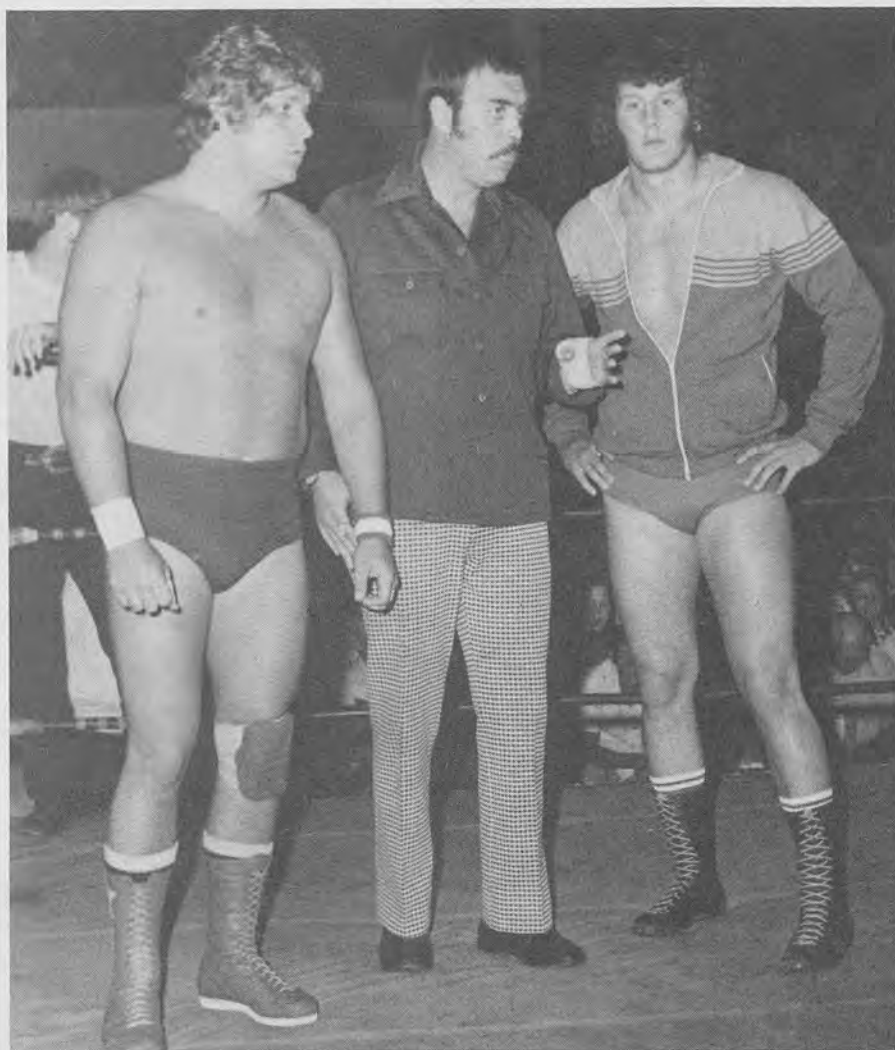

Can two men who once despised each other form the most exciting tag team in years? Dick Slater and Bob Orton Jr. are attempting just that!

FANS HAD A right to be confused when they saw Dick Slater and Bob Orton Jr. entering the arena as a tag team. To add to the confusion, the pair was being managed by Gary Hart, a man both wrestlers had professed to hate. Perhaps the trio were a bit confused themselves.

The one man who was most responsible for this strange combination was absent that night. Jerry Lawler could claim a good deal of the "credit" for the errie alliance. He had cajoled and convinced Bob Orton Jr. all that mattered was winning—at any cost.

Bob first encountered Jerry during Lawler's brief attempt to be a fan favorite. They instantly became good friends. But then Lawler decided to return to his unscrupulous ways, and he convinced Orton to follow in his footsteps, at least for awhile.

Bob's father, an infamous rule-breaking wrestler, pleaded with his son to forego the hazardous experiment. He didn't succeed.

"My father," admits Bob, "told me I was an excellent scientific wrestler and that's where my skills lay. He showed me that a winner doesn't have to be unnecessarily cruel. He also felt I was betraying my fans. He practically begged me not to change; then he started ordering me not to change. But my mind was made up and nothing he could do or say was going to change it."

So Bob Orton Jr. began a new phase of his career. Soon he attracted the roving eye of Playboy Gary Hart, a manager always on the lookout for young men with cruel streaks. Hart offered jobs to both Lawler and Orton.

Lawler was still happily under contract to Sam Bass. But Orton talked it over with him, and soon Jerry decided to accept the offer.

It wasn't an easy decision for Orton to make. He had wrestled many men in Hart's army, forming some bitter hatreds. But there was one man he despised most of all—Dick Slater.

Slater had recently returned to Hart's army after angrily abandoning the fold. He had wrestled many of those in Hart's army in some wild matches. Only after long and laborious negotiations did Slater relent and return. Dick was still uncomfortable amongst his recent enemies and he was less than thrilled to see Bob Orton Jr. join the crew. Slater had enough enemies as it was.

Therefore, both Slater and Orton were shocked when Hart told them they would be tag team partners. The only times they had been in the same arena, they'd gone for each other's throat.

"I'm a genius," Hart declared, "and I know all. The best thing for all concerned would be for you two to become a team. I've assessed your abilities and weaknesses. The two they say I'm a good wrestler. I spend no more than 10 minutes a day on my appearance. I've devoted my life to becoming a good grappler."

For a serious athlete like Dino, the constant comment on his good looks can be more than annoying. It has even begun to eat into his confidence, making him question his growing popularity. A situation like this could make it very rough for any young man suddenly thrust into the spotlight.

"Even being named rookie of the year," Dino says, "may have been more of my effect on young women than my ability to conquer opponents. Maybe it's the squeals of girls rather than the sounds of my opponents

Most men would love to trade places with Dino Bravo. But do most men realize Bravo's desperate predicament?

Dino does the near impossible by executing a startling double monkey flip; it has both Love Brothers on the canvas (right). submitting which got me the honor. I know I can wrestle. Does anyone else?"

This may seem like an absurd question. However, for anyone beginning a difficult career, every small point must be given special attention. Particulars are what separates professional athletes from the rest of the world. One's gifts must be scrupulously examined and evaluated. There is a constant questioning. Doubts are part of that process.

Watching Dino enter an arena gives one an idea as to why the young grappler is having those doubts. Women become excited at the sight of him. When he's in trouble, they scream in horror. When he is dominating the action, there are shouts of joy. The women aren't reacting to whether he executes well or if he's being overwhelmed by his opponents. All they hope is that Dino doesn't get hurt. That is not the kind of wrestling fan a young grappler needs most.

A beginning in any sport needs feedback solely on his accomplishments. His personality can only get in the way of the important criticism every young athlete needs. When one enjoys the kind of charisma possessed by Dino, it can eventually hurt his career.

"So far," his friend Tex McKenzie believes, "Dino has managed to keep his head about him. He's a good young wrestler and knows what he has to do.

ANDRE EXPLODES:

Powerful muscles strain as the mat greats, Andre the Giant and Billy "Superstar" Graham, begin their arm wrestling contest.

"I'LL CRUSH THE LIFE FROM BILLY GRAHAM!"

THERE ARE FEW times when Billy "Superstar" Graham has been so upset he's lost his composure in public. No matter how bloody, no matter how battered, Billy remains cool and poised. Recently, there was an astonishing exception to this rule; and no one could blame Billy for the cold sweat of fear which covered his brow.

Minutes before, he'd come perilously close to death's chilly grip. Graham was almost killed by the brutal assault of Andre the Giant. Although Billy had brought the attack upon himself, that didn't make its ferocity any less agonizing.

The reporters had been amazed they could feel any compassion for Graham. Yet each had to admit worrying about the conceited wrestler's fate as he found himself battered by the raging gargantuan. For those few horrible moments, while his life hung in the balance, everyone was on Graham's side.

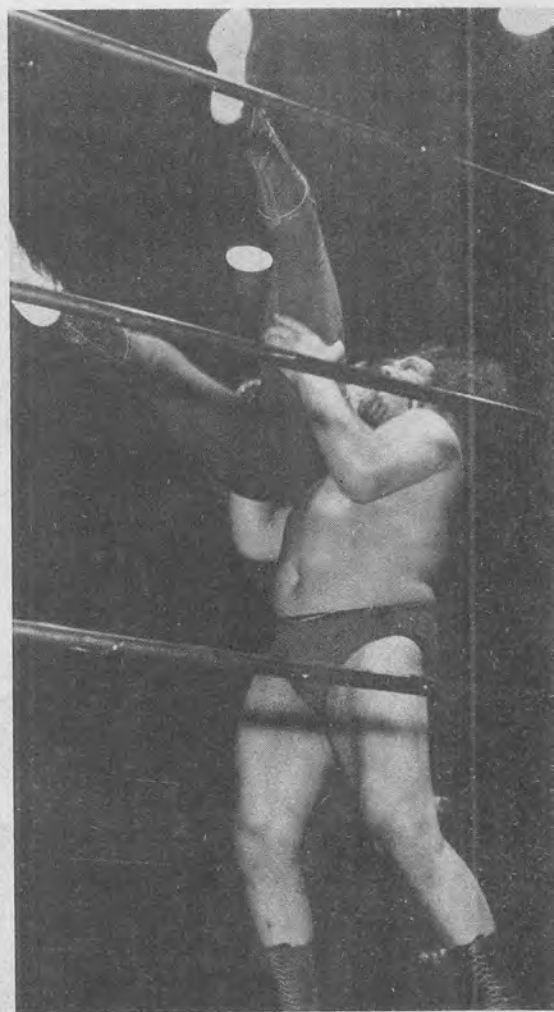

This didn't mean they had been rooting against Andre; few men had deserved a beating more than Graham. As they waited for Graham to stop shaking, the reporters reflected on the events which caused Andre to go berserk.

Watching Graham pull himself together after the match, it was impossible not to remember the confident boasts he shouted before the match.

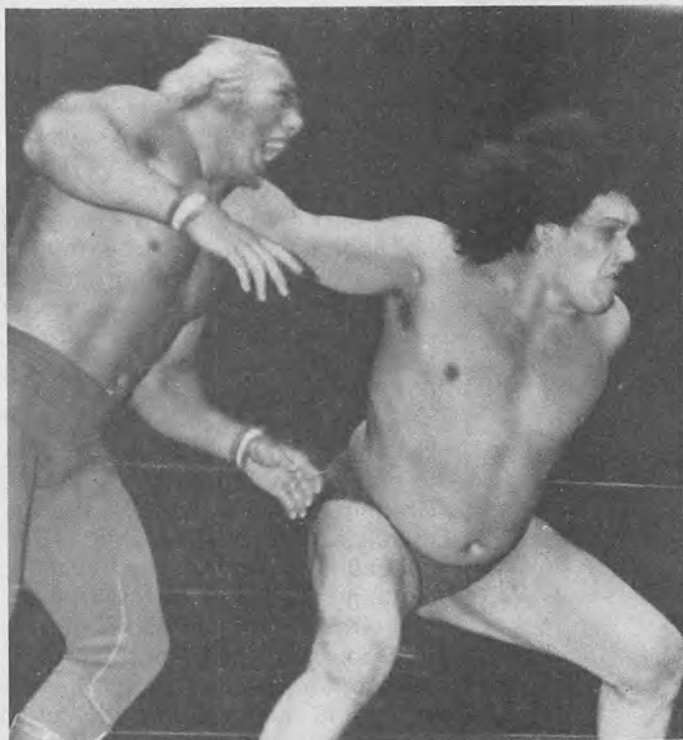

"We're going to have an arm wrestling match," Billy declared. "After I prove his bulk houses no power, humiliating him by easily shoving his hand to the table, I'll rip him apart in the real wrestling match. I won't even work up a sweat whipping that oversized clown. Andre the Giant is the biggest joke in wrestling today. I want everyone to have a good laugh."

Andre chose to ignore the insults; instead, he intensified his training regimen. Hour after hour, he exercised to bring his arm muscles

Billy Graham is lucky to be alive. Andre the Giant, however, is determined to change Graham's luck!

Andre's whirlwind attack is more than Billy Graham can cope with; as a result, "Superstar" finds himself hoisted in the air and very helpless (above).

Above: Andre rolls Graham's head beneath his foot as the groggy victim doesn't even attempt to get to his feet. Andre's face betrays a cruel joy as he feels the features of Graham's face crushed into the canvas. Of course, Graham deserved what he got! to their peak condition. He even worked on a strategem to employ against Graham in the hand wrestling. He was going to prove deeds are always more important than mere words.

On the night of the match, Graham strode happily toward the table set up in the middle of the arena. He took his seat and waited for Andre to appear. Graham almost seemed to be bouncing up and down with excitement.

Andre's face hardened into a scowl as he approached the field of battle. It could not mask how much Graham's words had stung him. There would be two contests this night; Andre was determined to win both of them convincingly.

The crowd fell quiet as Andre sat down. Neither man flinched as he stared across at the other. It's doubtful either heard the instructions of the referee; all concentration was focused on the man across the table. Each tried to sense some weakness, some fright in the other. When they locked hands, the veins stood out on both arms. The arena was deathly still as the referee gave the signal to begin.

If it wasn't for the strain on their faces, one would think the two wrestlers hadn't heard the signal. They were so evenly matched that their arms hardly budged for a long minute. Then, so slowly as to be unnoticeable, Andre started to win. Graham's arm began to get closer and closer to the table. The muscles on his huge arms began to tremble from exhaustion. Graham looked into his opponent's eyes and saw cruel determination. Rather than lose, Billy decided to save what was left of his reputation.

In one swift move, "Superstar" kicked the leg of the table, forcing it to come crashing down. As it fell, Graham pushed it towards his unsuspecting foe. The table's edge gouged into Andre's mid-section, doubling the Giant over with pain. The wrestling match had begun.

"Superstar" and Andre went at each other like two jungle beasts struggling over the last morsel of meat. Fans were shocked by the Above: Graham grimaces in agony as Andre ruthlessly works on his right arm. Even his powerful muscles couldn't save Billy from the terrific beating administered by Andre. brawl's intensity. At that pace, it could be no more than five minutes before both men would fall from agony and sheer exhaustion.

Andre slowly regained dominance over the match. Graham tried every trick he could think to turn the momentum of the match around; nothing worked. Andre's anger over being assaulted with a table made him invincible. It's a very brave or very stupid man who makes Andre the Giant lose his temper; Billy Graham was a little of both.

Graham's friend, Steve Strong, watched the action with horror. He knew what it would mean to Billy if he was defeated by the grappling behemoth. And Steve was determined not to let that happen.

Strong leaped over the ropes and grabbed at Andre. This gave Graham the chance he needed to free himself from Andre's clutches.

Steve went in for more than a rescue mission; he and Billy began to pummel Andre. Even a man used to handicap matches couldn't cope with this sneak attack. The gargantuan grappler swung wildly, simply trying to keep these expert tormentors from crippling him.

As the fans shouted their outrage at the unscrupulous pair, the referee disqualified Graham for outside interference. Strong left the arena and Graham tried to follow. However, Andre had a score to settle which would not wait.

A strong hand grabbed Graham from behind. Andre hurled him into a corner. Then, with a banshee wail, Andre's huge body went crashing down onto Graham. Billy screamed in agony as he felt the bones in his ribcage strain. Graham's eyes were aghast with horror as Andre leaped high in the air again. If one of the ribs did break, it would be shot like an arrow into Graham's lungs.

Billy rolled out of the way as Andre's body crashed to the mat. Graham had come within inches of having his chest smashed. While Above: Graham tries to get out beyond the clutches of Andre. No one had to tell Billy making Andre angry was a bad mistake!

Andre sat stunned for an instant from the shock of the fall, Billy scurried back to the dressing room.

Andre regained his senses and ran in pursuit of his foe. Graham barely managed to escape into the locked sanctuary of the dressing room.

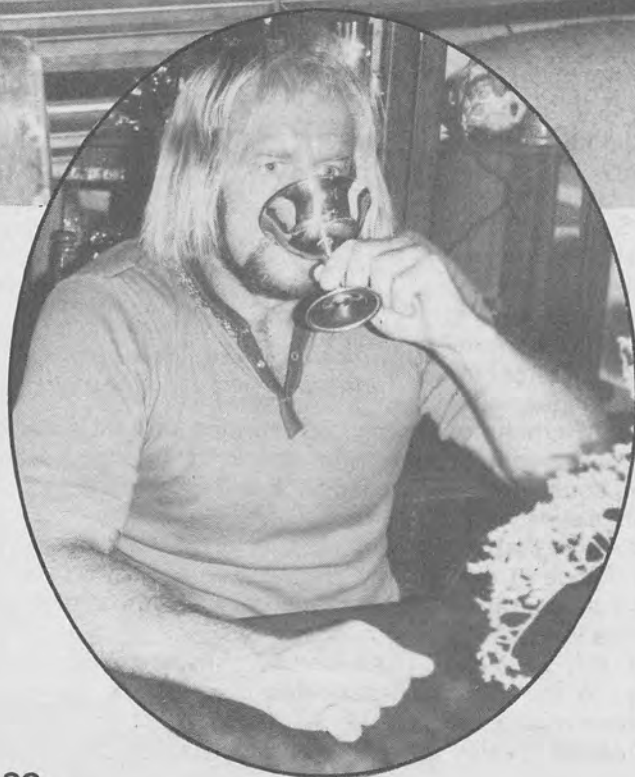

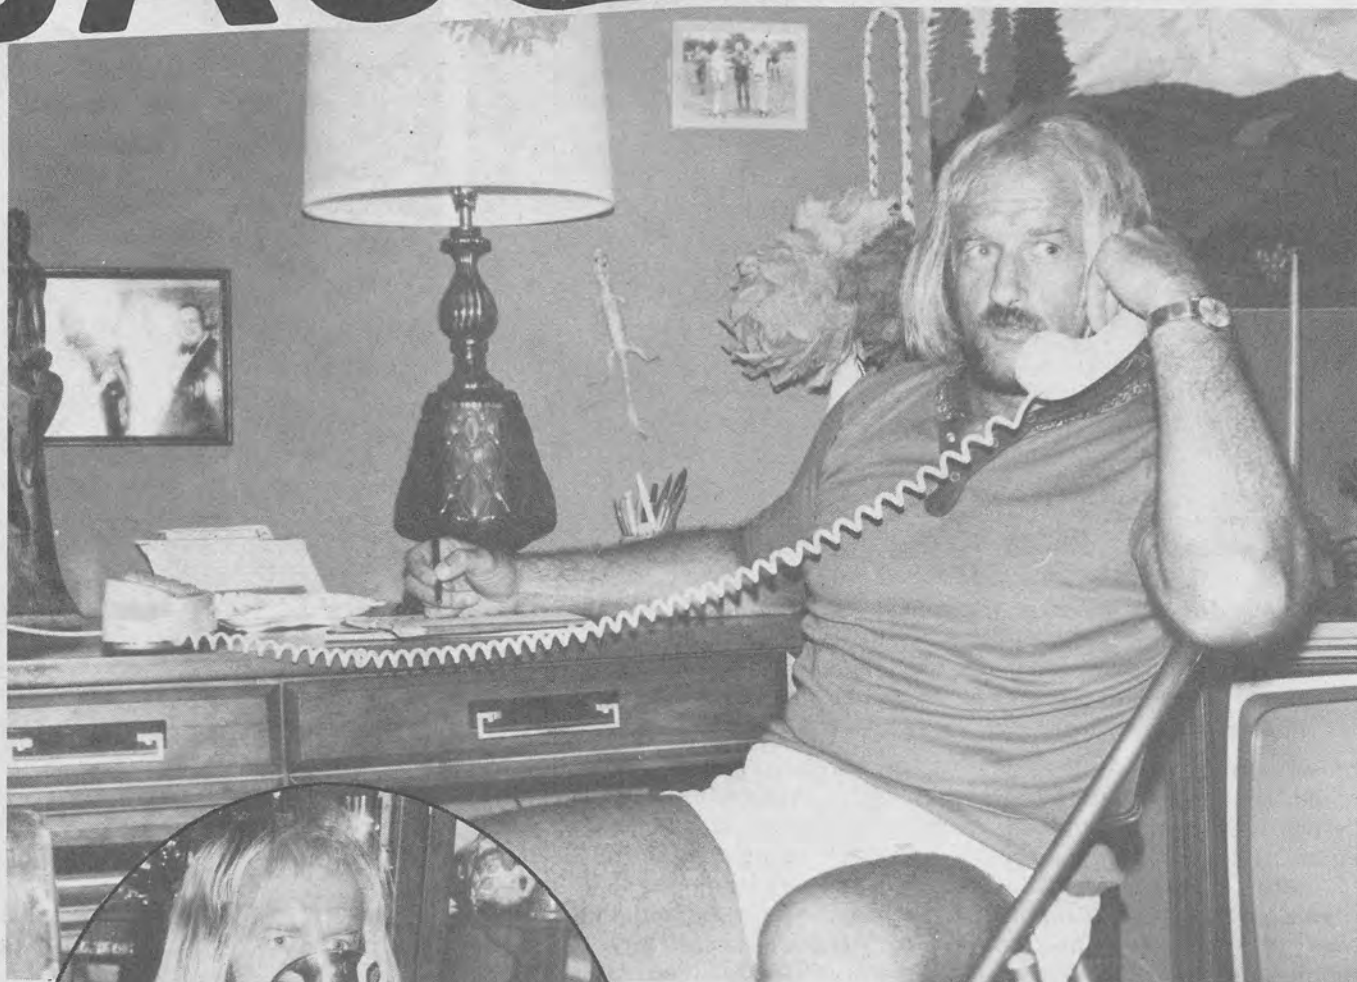

Andre stood outside the door for at least three minutes, demanding that Graham come out. Billy, no

WRESTLER ON THE "HOTSEAT"

IVAN KOLOFF:

"I'M THE ONE
CHAMPION!"

The "Hotseat" is not a comfortable place to be. When we put a wrestler on the "Hotseat" we interview him. But it is more than just an interview. It is a no-holds-barred question and answer forum that probes beyond the obvious and seeks to find out what others are afraid to ask. The "Hotseat" pulls no punches and plays no favorites. It is the kind of in-depth feature you'll find nowhere else!

HES THE MOST vicious wrestler to ever come out of Russia. Leaving a path of broken bodies behind him, he's destroyed some of the biggest superstars in the sport. His greatest accomplishment was when he defeated Bruno Sammartino for the W.W.W.F. heavyweight title. He lost that title shortly afterwards and now is on a path hoping to regain it and take the belt back to the U.S.S.R. He makes no secret of the fact that he loves to cripple his opponents. He is Ivan Koloff.

Q: Ivan, welcome to the "Hotseat."

A: Ask your questions. I am a very busy man and do not have time for nosey reporters.

Q: Okay, if that's the way you feel. First off, you've wrestled every recognized world champion—Bruno Sammartino, Verne Gagne, Jack Brisco and Mil Mascaras. Could you . . .

A: Wait a moment. You fail to mention that I also defeated these so-called champions. That makes me the one and only world champions! It is a title no other man in wrestling can rightfully claim.

Q: Could you compare these men in terms of talent with each other?

A: Mascaras and Brisco are light, fast moving wrestlers. So is Gagne. Bruno is different from them as he relies more on strength. And I can equal and better any one of these men and they all know it. They all realize that Ivan Koloff is the man who sent each of them to their doom.

Q: If you did indeed defeat all these men, how come you only owned one belt, the World Wide Wrestling Federation title?

A: Technicalities.

Q: Your pet maneuver is the flying knee drop off the top rope. This is how you beat Bruno. What happens if this hold is banned? Will it hurt your career?

Koloff's awesome power has often failed opponents who had hopes of dragging him to the canvas. Even the four champs have had their troubles against this great grappler. Ivan was the man who ended Sammartino's first championship reign.

A: They banned it in some areas where I wrestled. But Koloff uses it anyway. I get disqualified, but I feel good cracking my opponent's ribs. I broke many of Bruno's ribs. This was not publicized too much because Sammartino was ashamed of it and made everyone keep quiet.

Q: Do you plan to wrestle him again?

A: He is shooting off his mouth that he can beat me. My manager for my matches in World Wide Wrestling Federation territory, the great Captain Lou Albano, is getting me a match against Bruno. By the time your readers see this I will already be the new champion.

Q: Paul Jones was quoted as saying "I saw the face of death once and it was Ivan Koloff!" Paul was referring to an incident where you almost killed him. Do you try to make your opponents deathly afraid of you before you wrestle them—let's say as a psychological move?

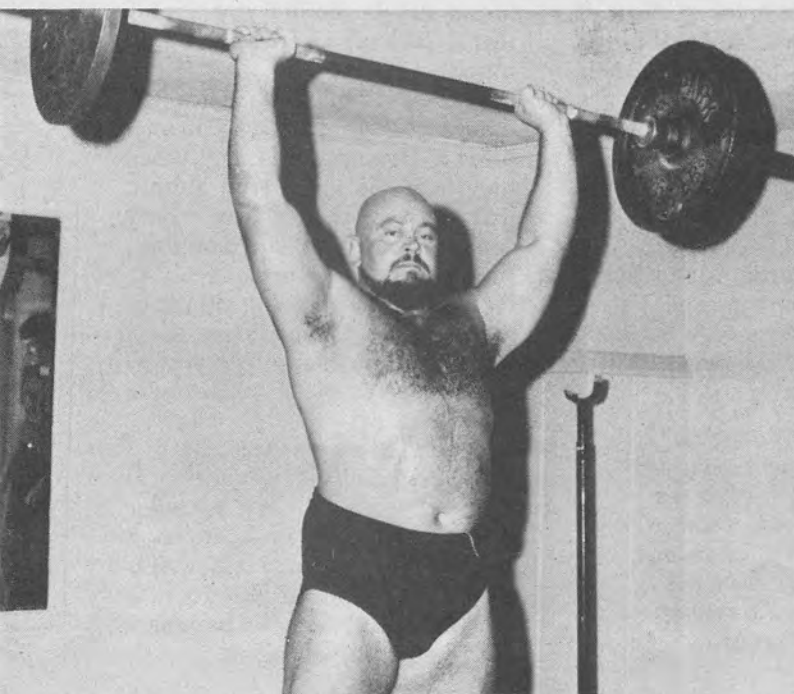

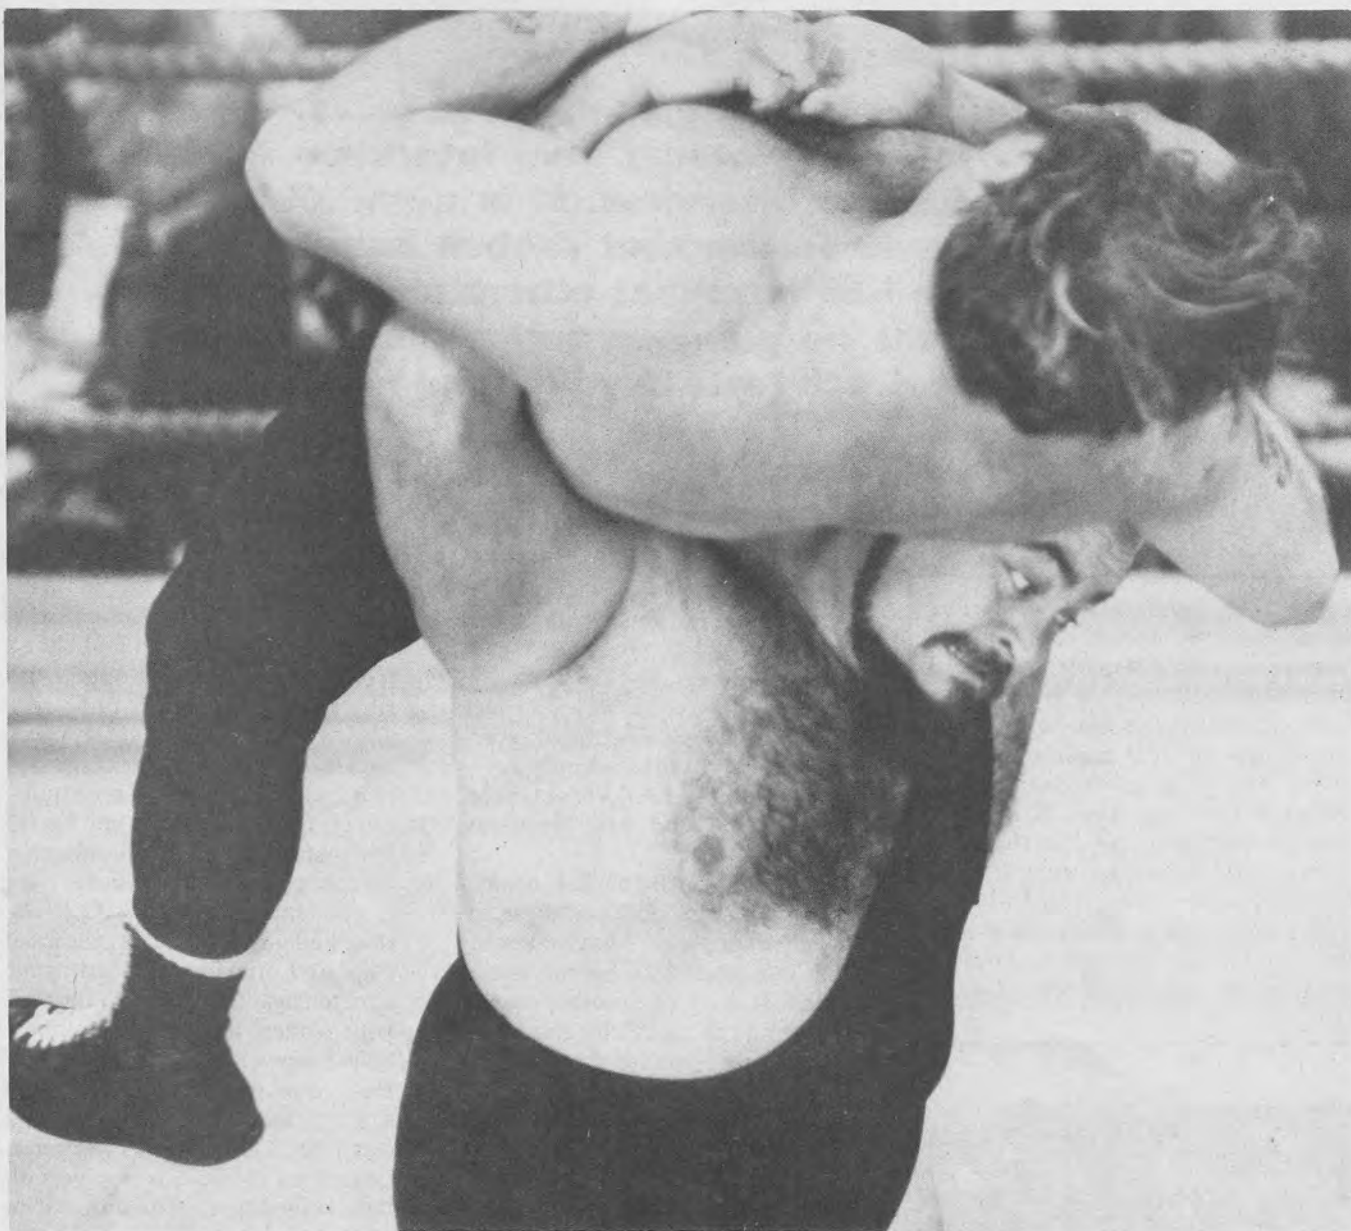

A: My reputation alone scares my opponents. I don't have to do anything to try and scare them. When they hear the name Ivan Koloff, fear strikes their heart. They cannot control their emotions. Fright overcomes them.

Q: Ivan, let's get back to the subject of manager Lou Albano. Many times we have seen Albano help you by interfering in a match when you're in trouble. . .

A: No! You have never seen that!

Q: We have, Ivan!

A: You need glasses. My manager never interferes in my matches. I don't need any help. Ivan Koloff is his own man. Ivan Koloff does his own wrestling. Not like Sammartino, who has Arnold Skoaland in his corner cheating for him.

Ivan can lift his opponents (above) with the same ease he can lift weights (left). Ivan's strength is legendary among fans and grapplers alike. Everyone is only too well aware of how cruelly Ivan uses his great power to maim and torture anyone who tries to threaten his supremacy.

Q: We've never seen Skoaland help Sammartino.

A: It goes to prove how blind you are!

Q: Do you consider yourself a scientific wrestler?

A: Let's say I mix roughhouse wrestling with scientific wrestling. It's a good mixture. It works well for me. I also use my superior strength.

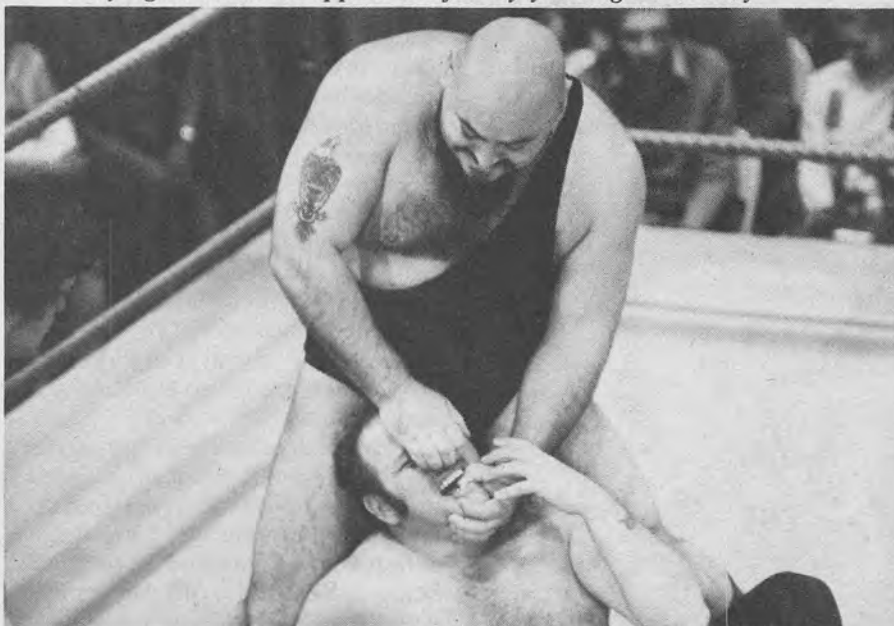

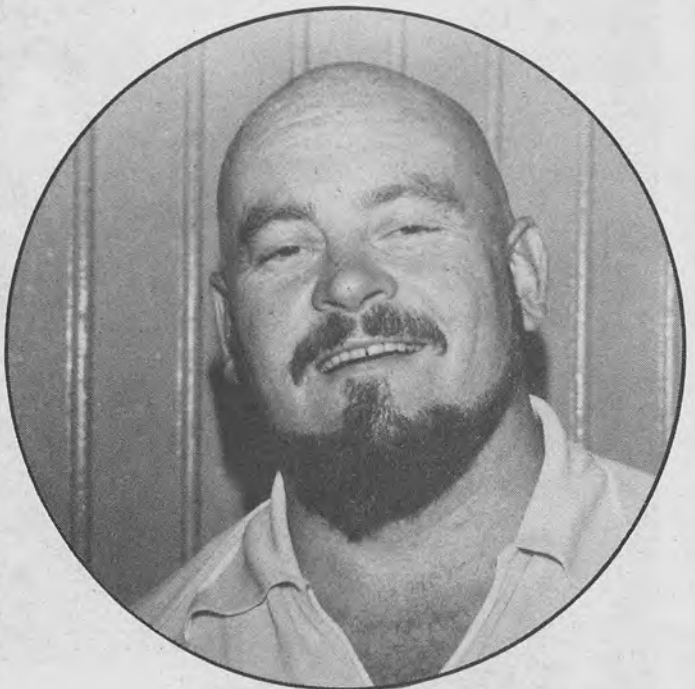

Q: It's well known that your bearhug is one of the most feared in the world. You've had bearhug clashes with Ken Patera, one of the best bearhug experts in America. Do you think Russia boasts a better bearhug than America—more specific—yours against Patera's?

A: We surpass this country in every sport there is. My bearhug is much better than Patera's. I can destroy any American wrestler with my bearhug.

Q: What about the strength of Ivan Putski and Mighty Igor?

A: I overpower both of them. They are afraid of me. I can crush the life from them any time I want to.

Q: Do you enjoy brutalizing your opponents?

A: To a point. I want every man I wrestle to be so afraid of me that he will not be willing to wrestle me again.

Q: For quite a while you had a big feud going with Wahoo McDaniel. Has that cooled down some?

A: No. I never will. Wahoo McDaniel is a poor excuse for a wrestler. He knows that I beat him many times and keeps making excuses so he'll get rematches. But deep down he knows he can't whip me. I am his better.

Q: You've also wrestled Wahoo in tag team competition, haven't you?

A: Yes. That way he can hide behind his partner and stay away from me.

Q: Do you like tag team competition?

A: It's not my favorite. I enjoy single competition.

Q: Do you have a favorite tag team partner?

A: Superstar Billy Graham is a fine partner. He is easy to work with. The man is a fine wrestler.

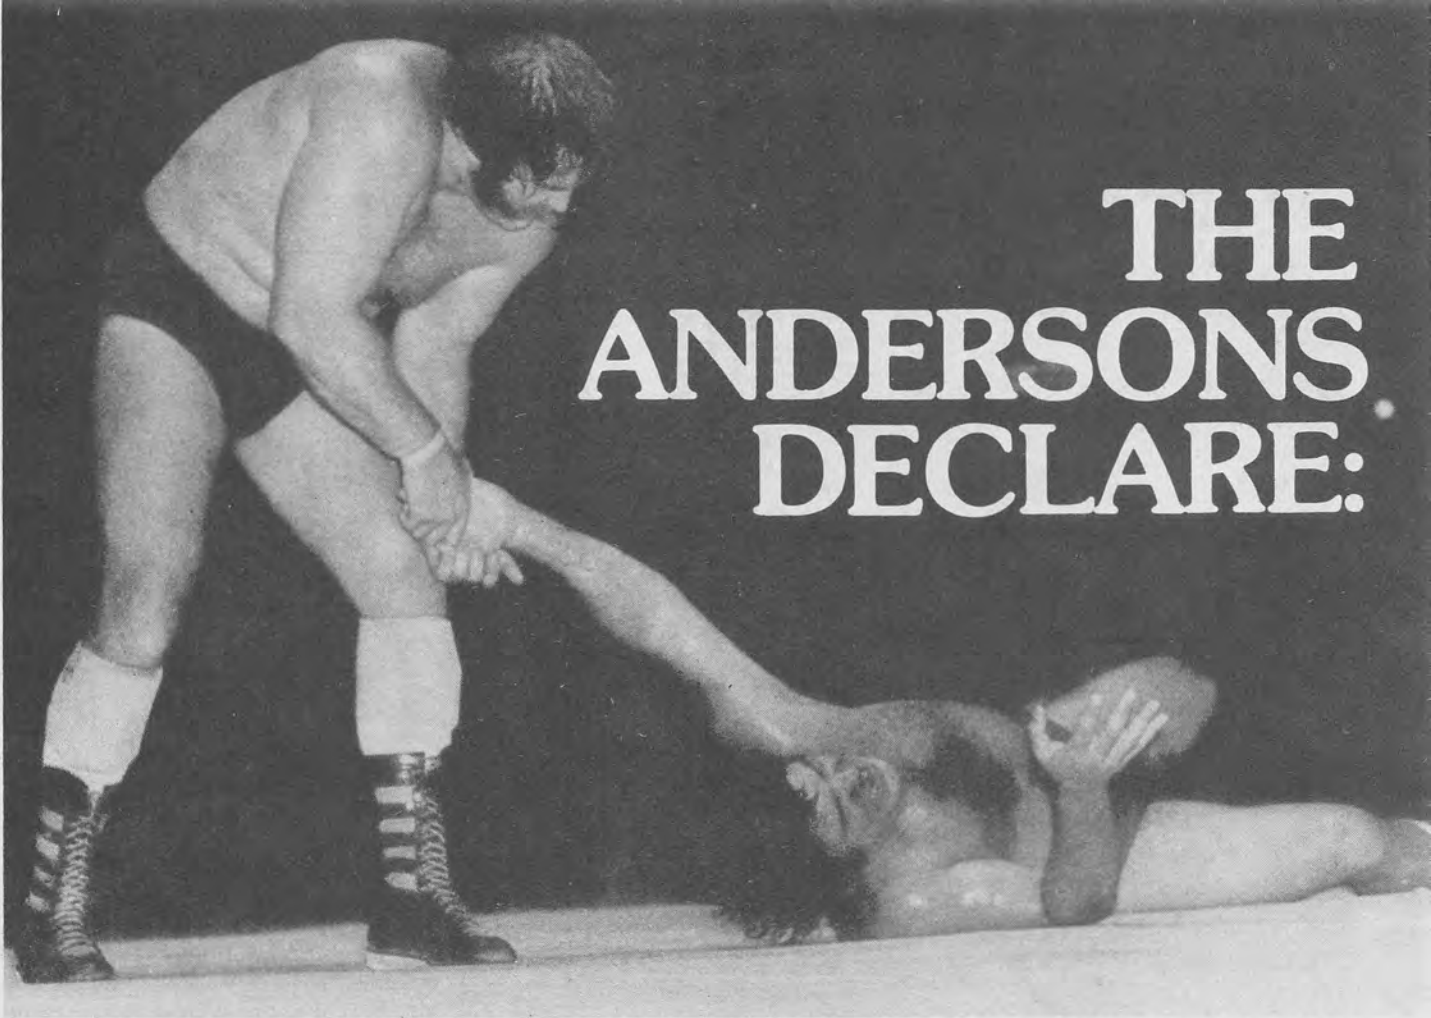

Q: Did you have any partners you didn't like working with?

A: Yes, several. But I don't want to discuss that. I would rather finish by saying that I am the champion. I don't have to prove anything. I am the greatest wrestler this world has ever seen.

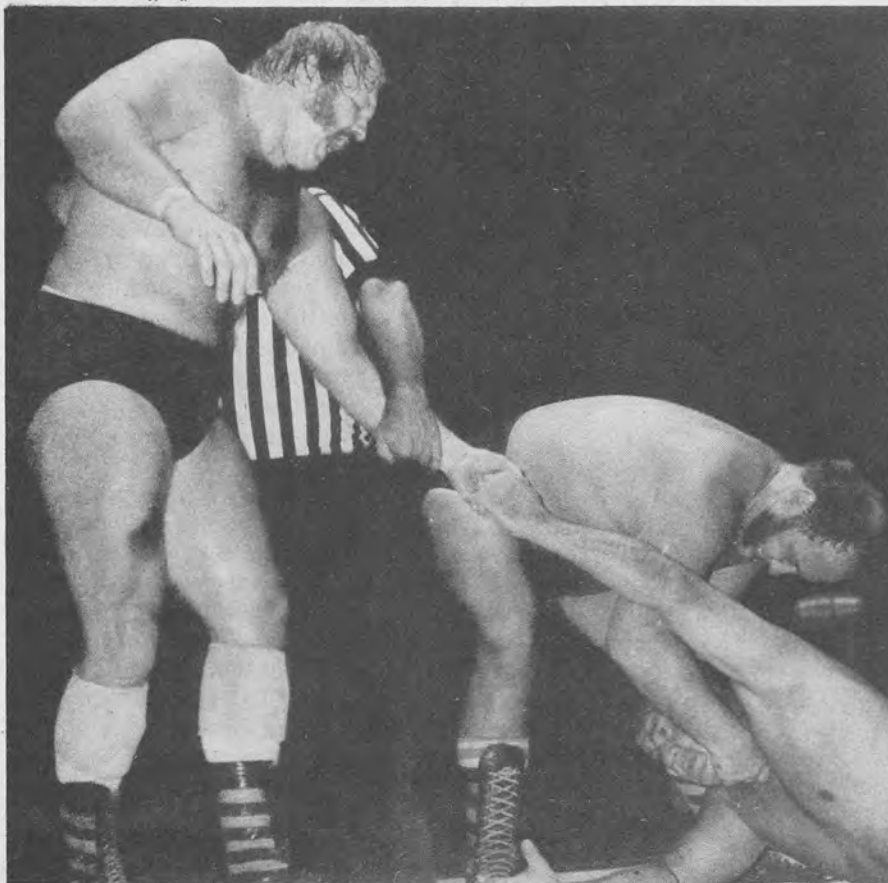

Q: Thank you, Ivan.

A: I'm sure you enjoyed speaking with me. □

THE ANDERSONS DECLARE:

Ole Anderson tortures Paul Jones with an expertly and cruelly executed wristlock (above). The Anderson Brothers are also adept at illegally working together on a hapless opponent; their ugly torturing of Wahoo McDaniel (below) is an excellent example!

THE TRAINING SESSION plodded along. Ole and Gene Anderson listlessly went through the motions without any spark or invention. They were preparing for still another match against Paul Jones and Chief Wahoo McDaniel.

The two tag teams had already faced each other 15 times. Although the Andersons have claimed these bouts have proven their overwhelming superiority, they still find themselves scheduled to wrestle Jones and McDaniel.

So the Andersons found themselves going over those same maneuvers which have proven most effective against their enemies. They had obviously abandoned any idea of attempting to develop any new strategies. They would simply hone the skills which proved so effective in the past.

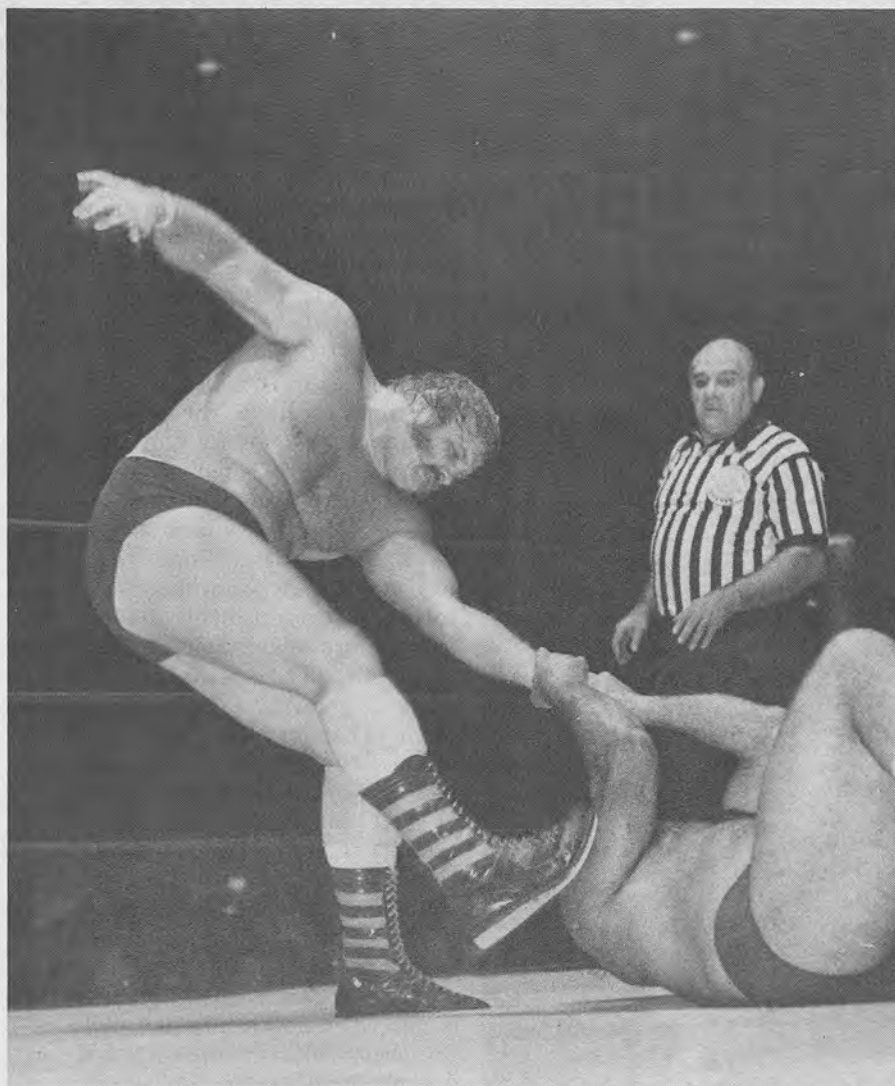

It can be death for tag team partners to get into a rut. If they lack challenges, their spirit dies. If the team also fails to recognize the challenge, it can die just as horribly and pathetically. Seeing the angry and scared expressions on the Andersons' faces, it was plain they recognized the danger.

After the work-out, which seemed to deteriorate rather than end, the two brothers walked slowly back to the dressing room. Each hoped a sauna bath and rubdown would make him forget about the afternoon's torment.

Two hours later, the Andersons left the gymnasium and went to a local restaurant. There, they discussed their problem.

"Even though we always beat Jones and McDaniel," Ole complained, "the promoters continue to put us against them. We can humiliate those morons any day of the week. We need some real competition."

"This can't go on," Gene added. "Those two have paid off the promoters to keep scheduling them against us. They know it helps their reputations to wrestle against us. They're trying to get some of our fame to rub off on them. In the meantime, they're destroying us."

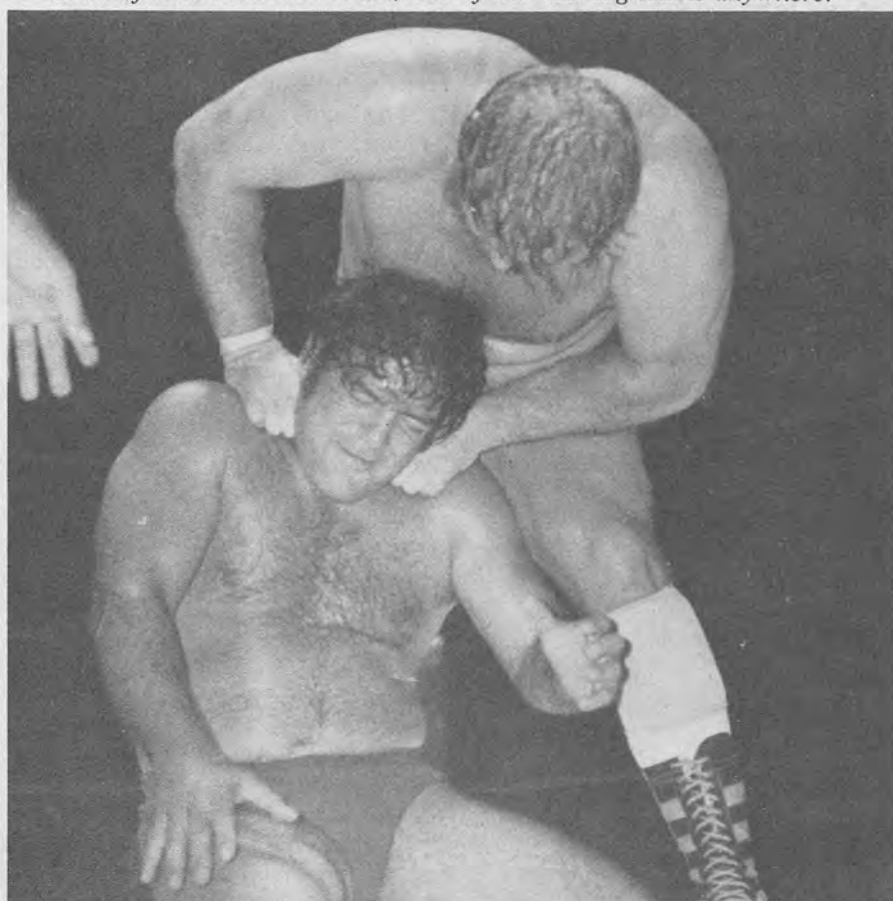

"The work-out today was a disaster. We're repeating the same moves over and over. There's nothing new; nothing we couldn't do in our sleep. We need new competition; a tag team which would challenge us. We can defeat Jones and McDaniel any day of the week."

"Instead of keeping ourselves in top condition," Gene concluded, "we're slipping because we don't have to really worry. Instead of improving, we're taking it easy. At times, I think we're too good for our own good. McDaniel and Jones just make the problem worse."

The Andersons talked dejectedly for more than an hour. They kept complaining that their supremacy over the world of tag team wrestling was being threatened. Though they now claim to be better than any other team, they also worry about losing their skills from lack of decent opposition. An athlete has to keep his skills sharp or else he deteriorates. That is the current fear of the Andersons.

Others believe the Andersons' greatest problem is their inflated egos. Jones and McDaniel are two who believe very strongly in that.

"They've never won a real victory over us," Jones contends, and McDaniel nods vigorously in agreement. "Instead of facing the fact that we're more than their equals, they make up this nonsense about how we're a great enough challenge for them. That way they don't have to admit we're able to combat the best tactics they can devise!"

"The fans don't come to see slaughters," McDaniel points out, "they come to see close contests. If we were always getting massacred, the fans wouldn't bother to come. And if they fans didn't come, the promoters wouldn't book us. Well, the fans fill the arenas when we wrestle the Andersons. So, their claim of always beating us doesn't hold water; the promoters wouldn't book the matches if those guys really are that much better than we are.

Since no wrestling commission can control The Sheik, there is no excuse for his not being deported from North America. DUSTY RHODES principles of this country are still good. By hard word and desire, even a poor boy from Texas can go to the top in any profession he wants.

That's what this country is all about. And that's what I'm all about.

"I give people hope. I give people the will to try again and again. It hasn't been easy for me; it's never easy for some poor boy from just the other side of nowhere. But I tried. And when I become champion, everyone will know they too can become champion. I am the 'people's champion.' Helped by the people, for the people, and of the people.

"When I'm champion, they'll call the N.W.A. title the 'people's title.'"

Watching Rhodes sing the praises of his "American Dream Movement," one can't help but get caught in his infectious rhythms and dreams of glory. Looking at everyone else, one sees that to be within Dusty's voice is to be entranced by his vision. All his listeners are convinced of his wonderful destiny. And each person sees himself as a driving force behind Rhodes' push to the championship. The man's charisma is staggering.

One Dusty is assured all around him share in his dream of conquest, Tanaka is trapped in a brutal headlock by Dusty, a hold that may make Rhodes N.W.A. champ!

he ventures on to his second great quest.

"There are some men in wrestling," Dusty declares, "and they know who they are, and we know who they are, who are a disgrace to the sport. In the year of the Bicentennial and the 'American Dream,' there can be no disgraces in wrestling. Therefore, I'm obliged to drive these men out.

"I don't plan on doing this alone, of course. I'm the leader of a movement. Friends of mine will help me in the glorious endeavor. As one army, a people's army consisting of only the great and determined, we will march over those who terrorize, jeopardize, and brutalize. It will be the most fabulous chapter in wrestling history.

"It will be the greatest year of all of the fans, of the sport, for my friends, and for myself. During the Bicentennial, this will be wrestling's finest hour. It will be the celebration and realization of the American Dream; Dusty Rhodes will realize his destiny!"

Listening to Rhodes, one can't help but be enraptured by his dreams of a splendid wrestling scene with himself as the center of all the splendor. And watching Dusty wrestle, one can't help but realize he possesses the skill and determination to make his dream a reality.

Dusty Rhodes may indeed be getting it all together for 1976! □

Within the first 30 seconds, fans were reminded that Bruiser is famous for incredible efforts. He took commands of the match immediately. Baker was overwhelmed by his skill and ferocity.

It took a remarkable, and remarkably dirty, series of maneuvers to put Baker back in the match. Ox proved himself to be a genius of the illegal and brutal. Fans held their breaths in horror as Baker's powerful arms yanked at the tie around Bruiser's neck. Bruiser's eyes bulged, his tongue hung out and flopped against his lower lip, and his breath came in rattling gasps.

Somehow, using the strength and determination only the superior human being can possess, Bruiser rose to his feet, grabbed Baker's wrists, and broke the hold. He then stumbled across the canvas as he caught his breath. Then he leaped back into the fray.

The two men tore at each other and Baker became bloody in the process. Both shirts were shredded into rags. But Baker had taken the greater beating, enabling Bruiser to rip off Ox's pants.

Baker learns a necktie can be used to choke his foe (left). Ox lives to regret it when Bruiser uses the same tactic against him (above). However, when Bruiser removes Baker's pants (below) is when Ox really begins experiencing terror!

A bleeding and humiliated Ox Baker grabs onto the ropes to help himself up after Bruiser is awarded the victory. Even then, Baker plans his revenge!

There Baker lay, head bloodied, gasping for breath... and in his underwear. The man who's name had terrified wrestlers now looked like a foolish and battered loser. Bruiser had accomplished his purpose.

However, Baker's furious scowl when he finally left the arena told fans their feud was far from over. ☐ only imagine the many things which raced through his mind. Only a fool wants to wrestle a grappler consumed by vengeance; Von Erich is no fool. Rumors had been circulated for days before the match that the German had tried every ploy possible to pull out of the battle. None of the promoters would confirm or deny the rumor.

Strongbow learned his lesson about going out first into the arena. On this night Von Erich was the first to stride down the aisle. He leaped over the ropes and placed himself in the middle of the ring. He waited for Jay to enter. Von Erich did not want Strongbow to sneak attack him.

But sneak attacks aren't Strongbow's ways. He wanted Von Erich to know what hit him. So Strongbow war-whooped as he approached the ring. Involuntarily, Von Erich started to step back. He was startled when he hit against the ropes, not realizing he'd been retreating. Embarrassed, Von Erich angrily went to his corner, determined to make sure Strongbow uses all his strength to break Von Erich's crippling bearhug. Jay's escape also broke the German's spirit.

Strongbow paid for this moment with blood.

The bell sounded and the two men clashed together. From the first, Strongbow dominated the struggle. This was the match he had been waiting for. Von Erich could only defend himself and not mount an offense. He only managed a few short spurts of an assault and then Strongbow would again be on the offensive.

The crowd was on its feet as Strongbow beat his revenge out on Von Erich's body. Then, with a war whoop that thrilled all who heard it, he lifted the German high in the air and threw him over the ropes.

Von Erich had enough. He turned from the field of battle and raced back to the dressing room. Strongbow stood with his hands on the ropes, daring his foe to return. When the referee raised the Chief's hand in victory, the crowd gave its favorite a standing ovation.

Chief Jay Strongbow had exacted his revenge. His pride and reputation were once again intact. This was all he ever wanted. □

Kojica's body is agonizingly twisted by Mil's famous and feared backbreaker (above). An athlete who employs agility as well as strength, Mil can leap with stunning effectiveness, as Saito is sad to learn (left).

wrestlers is something currently debated by wrestling fans. Some see his fame as an excellent thing for the sport. Others hope no one will follow in his footsteps.

"Mil is one of a kind," Leslie Gable believes, "and other wrestlers should realize that. Those who try to follow in Mil's footsteps would only look like cheap imitations. Most other guys should stick to the basics and develop their own styles."

"Mil is unique. He should stay that way. Only a few wrestlers can even approach his capabilities. The others shouldn't try."

On the other hand, some fans are looking toward a whole new era in wrestling sparked by Mascaras.

"We're going to have a lot of great athletes who might have otherwise chosen other sports now go into wrestling," Bernard Fliegel believes, "will now choose wrestling. Agility will replace size as a prerequisite for wrestling. There'll be a whole new kind of wrestler coming into the sport. And different styles of wrestling make for better viewing. Even after Mascaras retires, fans will be indebted to him."

As we learned from the hundreds who clamored to give their opinions about Mil's skill and influence, the masked mat star has captured the attention and imagination of wrestling fans. He has won more than adulation. He has been considered worthy of discussion and debate. This is the greatest reward any athlete can aspire towards. ☐

Trapped in the corner, Paul Jones is helpless to avoid an illegal pummeling at the hands of the Andersons. Yet, Paul miraculously managed to escape and seek the sanctuary of tagging his partner.

"The truth of the matter is the matches have been very close. If the Andersons weren't such low cheaters, we would have won them all. They are just depressed that their illegal tactics don't work well enough against us."

"They pretend," Paul adds, "they are having trouble because we're not enough of a challenge for them. I think deep down they realize we're actually better. They're just trying to find some excuse they can live with after we beat them once and for all."

Those who have followed the matches between these two teams have trouble understanding why the Andersons feel they are always the winners. Most spectators claim the matches end either in disqualifications or draws. Only one or two have been clear victories; and those have been achieved after the most difficult battling.

It is beginning to seem the Andersons have been hiding behind an excuse to explain their inability to conquer Paul Jones and Wahoo McDaniel. It also seems they really believe that excuse to be the truth.

It's fairly common for an athlete to look outside himself for the reason behind his failure. He needs his problems to be conquerable; his greatest fear is the opponent who cannot be defeated. Instead of facing this fear, the athlete will make up any other explanation.

However, sooner or later the truth must be faced. When will this time come for the Andersons? More importantly, will they be able to survive the confrontation? ☐ of you are made for each other. I'm astonished nobody bothered to see it before. Of course, no one else is the genius I am."

TAG TEAM

No matter how confident Hart was, the two wrestlers were extremely tense as they began to train together. Neither one really trusted the other; some say they still don't. However, in less than an afternoon together Hart's theory was proven correct. The two were magnificent together.

Both Orton and Slater were astonished. They had counted on the venture being a failure so they could go their separate ways. Instead, they found themselves excited by the unlimited possibilities. They complemented each other perfectly.

Dick Slater uses his elbow to give Mr. Wrestling II a painful headache which lasted two days!

Fans who saw them wrestle were totally astonished as they watched a perfect machine constructed by a wrestling master. They were ruthless. They were brilliant. Only the most expert of grapplers could even stand a chance against the dynamic duo.

Dick Slater and Bob Orton, Jr. could conceivably become the greatest tag team in the world. But can these two men, so short a time ago bitter enemies, ever build the trust necessary to make a tag team effectively mesh? Gary Hart claims there's no question about it; they've already done it. Others are willing to take a wait-and-see attitude.

Dick Slater and Bob Orton Jr. now have a chance to rewrite wrestling history. On the other hand, they could become even more bitter enemies than ever!

yelled instructions to his man but to no avail. There was no stopping Patterson—or so it seemed.

When Pat was on the verge of victory, Kaiser interfered, beamed Pat with a foreign object while the referee was looking elsewhere, and that was all for Patterson.

Believe it or not, Patterson is now teaming with longtime enemy but now reformed rulebreaker Moondog Mayne. The two teamed to make

Crusher darted out of his corner and showed everyone that the adversaries doubleteaming didn't do too much damage to him. He was a one man gang, slamming Ray and Nick and getting some lumps in on Heenan on the side.

Crusher tagged Bruiser who kept things going. Finally Bruiser had Stevens tied up in a knot and it was all over. The A.W.A. had new tag team champions!

"We were robbed!" cried Heenan. "We're still the champions!"

But that's not the way it'll go into the record books. Bruiser and Crusher are the happy new champions.

"We have ended one of the longest tag team reigns in history," Bruiser said, "and we intend to keep the title longer than Bockwinkle and Stevens."

"That's right," Crusher added. "We're proud of these belts and will defend them for all our wonderful fans!"

mincemeat of the Masked Invaders.

Manuel Cruz, the popular star, is no longer popular. He has changed his tactics and gone the way of Angelo Mosca and his kind. It seemed weird to watch Cruz wrestle Moondog because the situations are now reversed—At one time Cruz was cheered and Mayne booed by the fans.

Cruz gave Moondog a tough bout. As a matter of fact it looked as though the new-styled Cruz would take the nod over the new—styled Mayne. But Moondog rallied and locked Cruz in a sleeper hold, teaching him a lesson he'll never forget. Fans sure wish Cruz was back on the scientific side.

Other action: Cruz stopped Les Thornton . . . Rock Riddle Boston crabbed Raul Mata . . . Don Muraco and Pedro Morales toppled Buddy Roberts and Karl Von Brauner . . . Invaders stopped Peter Maivia and Pat Patterson. ✓ idiot, stayed right where he was.

Every reporter who waited for Graham to speak remembered Andre shouting, "I'm going to kill you! I'm going to kill you! I'm going to kill you!" It's a good bet Graham remembered, also.

The reporters had waited 30 minutes before being able to get into the dressing room. Graham had to make sure Andre wasn't around. Then, he just sat for awhile, staring blankly into the sea of faces surrounding him.

Steve Strong wonders if it is such a good idea to aid Billy Graham when Andre grabs him by throat and lifts him in the air!

Recollections of the match were interrupted when Billy spoke. Some of the press had been thinking of leaving, but were happy they'd stuck around.

"I'm not afraid of anyone," Billy whispered softly, his voice cracking and barely audible.

To hear Billy "Superstar" Graham quake in fear was something every reporter had longed to hear for years. The wait was well worth it. □ isn't any good!"

"SEXY" PROBLEM

Jerry Brown of the Hollywood Blonds learns the hard way why Dino Bravo won I.W.A. "Rookie of the Year" honors. Brown is not likely to mistake Dino as a handsome guy without ability!

Tex doesn't foresee Dino changing his style in the near future. He feels Bravo has enough confidence—and good sense—not to make any drastic changes. However, there is a danger of small changes be adopted, changes which would hurt Dino in the long run.

"It would be natural," Tex explains, "for Dino to do something new just to get some sense of how the fans view him as an athlete rather than a sex symbol. Now, moves which are used just to see something different rather than developed are always dangerous. And a man in Dino's position is apt to do something like that."

While most men would regard being too sexy as the perfect problem, for a young professional grappler, it could mean the end of a career. That's a danger which is plaguing Dino Bravo.

If any youngster can hold up under all that hero worship, it's Dino.

"But, by golly, I don't know how long he can take it. It seems almost inhuman that all that attention has already turned his head. If I was Dino's age, I sure as heck would be enjoying all the worship instead of training.

"Also, he's not too sure what his best maneuvers are yet. He's still learning, still finding himself professionally. He needs the fans as a way of determining what he's doing right or wrong. As far as Dino's fans are concerned, that boy can do no wrong! That's nice, but it

"No wrestler can make a career without the fans' support," Dino says, "I realize this as well as anybody. And I wouldn't want to be unattractive to women. I was blessed with the appearance which makes people like me.

"However, I also realize what harm it can do me. I get worried at times, now probably more than I should. I'm not sure what I'm doing and where I'm going wrong. I want to be admired for my athletic ability and not my good looks.

"Also, fans don't take sex symbols seriously. There really is the prejudice that a good looking guy is just another pretty face. I'm a wrestler first and foremost; I want to be taken seriously as such."

Dino's opponents are taking him seriously. Unfortunately for the young grappler, that may not be enough. ☐
